Alleged Counterfeit Gang Is Captured In Hope

4 Men and Woman Are Arrested in Downtown Hotel

Alleged to Have Attempted to Dispose of $1,000 in Bogus Bills

"G" MAN IS AWAITED

Department of Justice Agent to Take Charge of Prisoners

An alleged counterfeit gang—four men and a woman—all arrested in Hope late Monday night, were being held in separate jails in Hempstead and Nevada counties Tuesday awaiting the arrival of a Department of Justice agent who will take charge of the prisoners.

The gang, whose names are being withheld until formal charges have been filed, were arrested at a local hotel by Sheriff Jim Bearden's forces and Night Officers Ward and Stewart.

They were taken in custody on information from Blevins that they had attempted to dispose of $1,000 in counterfeit bills there for the reported sum of $350 in legal money. Counterfeit machines, said to have been seen in their car at Blevins, were being sought Tuesday. The machines were believed by officers to have been dumped somewhere on the Hop-Blevins road.

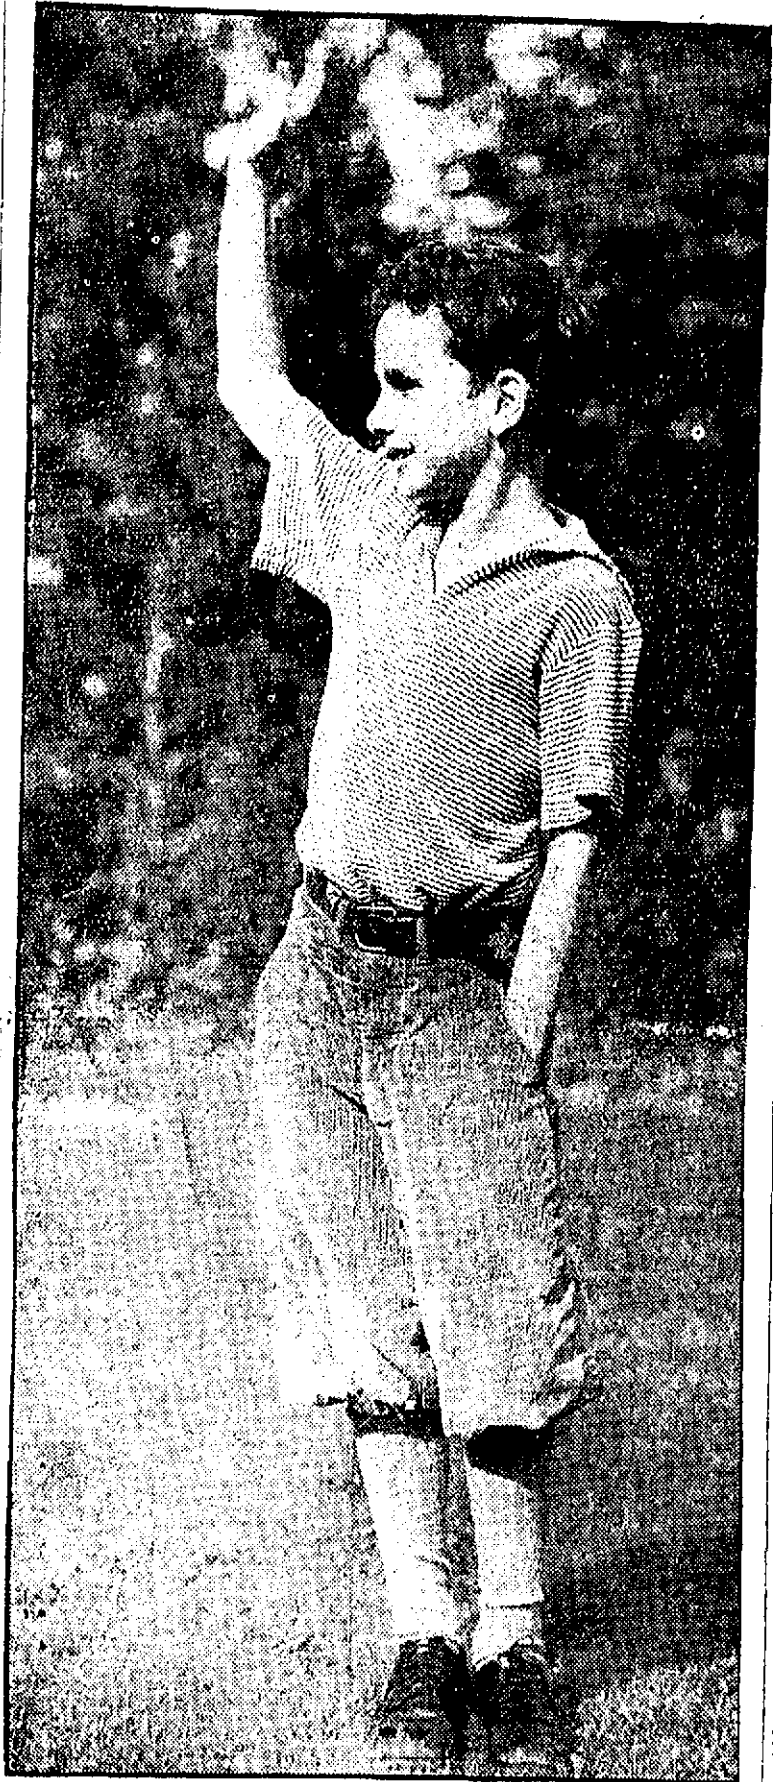

Two of the men held in jail are former residents of Blevins. The other two men and the woman gave their names as Kilgore and Henderson, Texas.

Sheriff Jim Bearden declined to reveal the identity of the persons with whom the gang contacted at Blevins in an alleged attempt to dispose of bogus money.

A department of Justice agent from the Memphis office is expected to arrive in Hope some time Tuesday night to take charge of the investigation.

It was not disclosed the amount of alleged counterfeit money taken from the prisoners.

Back Home Again

George Hunt Weyerhaeuser has a wave and a smile for the crowd that greeted him upon his first public appearance at his Tacoma home, following his release by kidnappers after being held nine days. A reported sum of $200,000 was paid for his release.

500 May Be Dead as Floods, Storm Ravage Wide Area

Floods Continue Destruction in Three Mid-Western States

DAMAGE IN MILLIONS

Dust Storm Covers Parts Oklahoma, Colorado and Kansas

By Associated Press
Death estimates in three mid-western states and Mexico mounted to the 500 mark Tuesday as rampaging floods continued their widespread destruction.

Over 350 persons are officially estimated lost when a wall of water swept down on the fertile valley of Mexico.

Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas are still being lashed by raging streams.

Estimates based on reports of relief workers Tuesday placed the number of dead in Nebraska at 140. Kansas had eight dead and Missouri counted three.

Damage Is Millions

Flood and tornado damage in the Missouri river watershed was estimated at more than $25,000,000 Monday night and the list of dead neared 200.

The swollen Republican river was causing the most damage in the region of Junction City, Kan.

Clearing weather was predicted but streams continued to rise.

Red Cross workers were sent to Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas. A Red Cross headquarters at St. Louis announced an appropriation of $10,000 for relief work.

Nebraska's known dead from floods and tornadoes totaled 140.

Known dead in other states were: Kansas eight, Missouri three, Colorado 19, Wyoming eight, Texas six, Oklahoma one.

Tornado and flood losses were estimated by states as follows: Nebraska, $12,000,000; Colorado and Wyoming, between $8,000,000 and $12,000,000; Missouri, more than $2,000,000; Kansas, $2,000,000.

In the flooded regions of Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Colorado, unofficial figures showed some 2,500 families homeless.

While floods raged, a dust storm covered the Oklahoma Panhandle, a corner of Kansas and Southeastern Colorado—parts of the recent "dust bowl" which have had heavy rains recently.

Depressing Spectacles

Pilots who drove their planes dangerously near the surface of the flooded areas in a search for survivors reported a depressing spectacle.

Spanes of bridges were missing. Here and there cattle and horses stood on high ground.

Uprooted trees were seen and occasionally an object that appeared to be a body. A top a small building sat what appeared to be a man.

Roots of barns and houses still standing protruded above the surface of the water. Elsewhere, parts of broken buildings were visible.

The channel of the Republican river was barely discernable from the air.

Hope Teams Score Double Victories

Basket Co. Wins Over Waterloo While Storke's Beat Sheridan

Two Hope baseball teams scored victories Sunday. Hope Basket company team trouncing Waterloo, 10 to 7, at Fair Park while the Storke's shut out Sheridan, 7 to 0. The latter game was played at Sheridan.

The basket company team had little trouble with Waterloo, breezing to an easy victory with Brewster on the mound for Hope.

Lefty McKee allowed Sheridan seven scattered hits. It was the second victory of the season for the Storke's against no defeats.

Hitting honors went to Vernon Schooley who cracked out two doubles and a single. Jimmy Cook in centerfield and Raymond Robins at first base, turned in a well-played offensive game for the Storke's.

Sheridan comes to Hope next Sunday.

Sales Tax Rules to Be Ready Soon

Revenue Department Will Have Merchants' Forms Printed in Few Days

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Attorney General Carl Bailey said Tuesday that 35 per cent of funds allotted under the Hall sales tax act to the general revenue fund could not be used by the welfare commission.

Bailey said that "only the legislature can appropriate the state's money and that money that goes into the general revenue fund can be used only for general revenue fund purposes."

State Welfare Commissioner Roy Prentiss said he would confer with Bailey Tuesday on whether $500,000 appropriation in the welfare commission appropriation bill could come out of the general revenue fund.

To Print Forms

LITTLE ROCK.—The State Revenue Department began preparations for collection of the new two per cent retail sales tax, which will become effective June 21 or July 1 under a decision of the Arkansas Supreme Court handed down Monday.

Justice Agents Search Tacoma

Believe Abductors Are in Hiding in That Area

TACOMA, Wash.—(AP)—Increasing their Tacoma field force to about 30 by the arrival of a dozen new men, federal Department of Justice agents were unusually active again Tuesday, hoping to elicit up the George Weyerhaeuser kidnapping within a week.

Otherwise they will face the possibility of a long wait until abductors, who extracted $200,000 from the youth's parents come out of their hiding places and attempt to flee.

Car Is Clue

TACOMA, Wash.—(AP)—A motor car found abandoned in Seattle was disclosed Monday night to be a vital clue in the government's determined drive to trap little George Weyerhaeuser's kidnappers, now indicated as being members of a crafty northwest criminal ring.

New Treaty With Germany Signed

Omits 'Most Favored Nation' Clause at Request of Berlin

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The United States and Germany Monday signed a new treaty of friendship, commerce, and consular right to replace a 10-year-old pact which would have terminated October 14.

The new treaty, signed by Secretary Hull and Dr. Hans Luther, German ambassador, would eliminate the unilateral most-favored-nation clause, but retain all provisions of the existing treaty concerning residence, navigation, and consular right. Since it is a treaty not coming within the scope of the trade agreement act, it must be ratified by the Senate before becoming effective.

Germany notified the United States in October, 1934, that it would terminate the existing treaty because of its objection to the unconditional most-favored-nation provision. The German (Continued on page three)

YOUR HEALTH

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Tooth Decay Frequent in School Children.

Wherever surveys have been made, it has been found that decay of the teeth is the most common defect among school children.

In New York City, 90 to 97 per cent of the children have been found to be subject to dental decay. This is all the more unfortunate since experience has shown in recent years that the amount of dental decay may be prevented or greatly reduced by suitable attention.

The investigators are not agreed as to what are the most important elements involved, but all say that there is a definite relationship between diet and dental decay. In fact, previous studies have shown that children who eat a diet of refined cereals and sugars have more dental decay than those who eat a diet of whole grains and vegetables. It is a general belief that alkaline foods are important, rather than the acid-forming foods; and some authorities advocate reduction of sugars and starches.

The substances, therefore, that are necessary in the diet to prevent dental decay include green leafy vegetables, fresh fruits, eggs, and milk. The refined cereals and sugars should, of course, be greatly reduced in such diets, because the human stomach can take care of just so much food, and the taking of excessive amounts of the refined cereals and sugars will make impossible the taking of adequate amounts of the essential food substances that have been mentioned.

Americans, like people of other races, eat what they are used to eating. It is very hard indeed to get a change in the average dietary in any individual home.

For years white bread and other refined flour products, white sugars, and foods and desserts of which white sugar forms the basis, have been common articles in the American diet, and it is difficult to get people to abandon them.

Furthermore, growth of cities, and particularly of kitchen apartments, has tended to change the nature of foods regularly used.

It is known that raw foods tend to deteriorate in storage and on merchants' shelves, and that they are in general more expensive than the prepared foods. It thus becomes necessary to educate people more and more to the necessity of using the essential food substances in the diet, and to realize that these foods, while they cost more, are worth more.

The burden of education falls not only on the newspaper columns such as this, but also on the family doctor and family dentist, on the schools, and on every other educational medium which has some way of reaching parents with this important knowledge.

A BOOK A DAY

He Swindled Both the Nazis and Reds—Gentlemanly Rogue Figures in This Engaging Tale

Human nature being what it is, most of us find rogues more interesting than honest men. An English novelist named Christopher Isherwood has capitalized on that fact to write an interesting book entitled "The Last of Mr. Norris."

This book, which is light and fluffy in a perverse sort of way, but which nevertheless makes pretty good reading, tells about an aging English swindler who is driven by fate to operate in Berlin just as the Nazis are coming to power.

Such troubled waters are excellent fishing grounds, and he makes the most of them. He devises a system whereby he works for both the Communist and the Nazi parties at once, selling out their secrets, accepting funds from both, working two double crosses at once, and even finding a very exciting and eventful life of it. To top it all, our swindler has a pathetic desire to be an English gentleman. He is not the conscienceless

Cards Win Six Straight Games

Go Into Second Place—Threaten the Giant's Lead

By the Associated Press
The same sort of battle that marked the close of the 1934 National League season is on again with the Cardinals coming up with a tremendous rush to threaten the leadership of the New York Giants. Only so far the Giants haven't shown any signs of the "crack" that cost them the pennant last September.

Buried in fourth place almost from the start, the Cards turned up at the end of their eastern tour then opened up the machine to top speed last week to pile up six straight victories and move into second place.

Monday they had cut the Giants lead to 3½ games as they won No. 6, 6 to 5, over the Cubs while the New Yorkers came to the end of their seven-game winning string with a 2-0 shut-out at the hands of the Braves.

Trailing 5½ games into the last inning the Cards pounded their former teammates, Tex Carleton out to score one run and leave the corners crumpled when Lurry French took the hill. Jimmy Collins bled French's second pitch for a homer and when Chicago threatened in the last half of the inning Dizzy Dean came in to save the game by disposing of two pinch-hitters.

Dick McCorkle and Anna Boyett attended, straight from Hollywood, we get fresh news about them. After all, screen stars have to do exercises whether they like them or not, and they, like the business woman, don't have too much time for them.

The posture exercises are the easiest of all and without a doubt one of the most necessary types. Every woman with a hollow in her back, a protruding stomach or shoulders that slump in ungainly fashion should do this old favorite:

Lie on your back on the floor with hands at your sides and knees bent so that weight of the legs rests on the floor. See that every inch of your spinal column, except the last three or four vertebrae, touches the hard surface. The ones right at the base of your backbone should be turned upward.

Holding this position, press straight out. Draw in your stomach as fast as you can. Make sure there is no hollow in your back. Hold the position a few seconds. Relax and repeat 20 times. When you stand try to retain this perfect posture.

Another exercise, designed especially to keep the stomach trim and the back supple, is one that Ann Dvorak likes to do. Here are the directions:

Lie flat on your stomach on the floor, legs straight, toes pointed downward and head thrown backward. Placing your hands on the floor, in front of your head but close to your body, raise yourself upward until arms are straight. Do not move the legs. Lower your body slowly. Repeat ten times.

Next: More exercises.

Summer Sweethearts

By Mabel McElhott © 1935, NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
KATHARINE STRIKHURST, beautiful, 20, is in love with MICHAEL HEATHCROE who runs a riding school. Katharine's father is rich and her stepmother, DERTINE, is snobbish.

ZOE PARKER, Katharine's friend, has an unhappy love affair and is saved from suicide by young DR. JOHN KAYE.

SALLY MOON, local coquette, tricks Michael into an engagement and, when he tries to wriggle out, tightens her hold. Katharine hears Michael is to marry Sally and is broken-hearted.

She overhears two detectives talking for Michael's address and, thinking him in danger, rushes to warn him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIII

MICHAEL said nothing for the space of five minutes, during which Katharine drove furiously. She drew into a side road—a sort of lane, blocked from the main road's view by a screen of apple trees. She had had a picnic here with the Merser children only the week before.

She shut off the engine. After its steady hum the silence was almost deafening. Half a city block away the roar of steady traffic on a main artery sounded. But here there was the humming of bees in a clover field. And quiet. And a man in the seat beside her, waiting for her to speak.

"Well, what is it?" Katharine had the queerest feeling that she had lived through this scene some time—some place—before. Perhaps in a dream. Her brows drew together in a frowning line.

"Do you think we can be seen from here?" She threw a glance back at the road from which she had come.

Michael shrugged. "No. But why?"

She plunged into her story. "Michael, there are men after you, down in the village. They're bad—detective fields—or something."

"Detectives?" If he were guilty of some unnamed crime, he maintained a blank air. But hadn't she heard somewhere that criminals are like that?

"Michael!" She felt a sudden fierce rage possess her. That he should be so calm, while she had rushed so madly to warn him!

"Don't you understand?" she cried. "I rushed to tell you, so that you might get away."

"You did that?" His voice sounded odd—almost choked. He was staring at her strangely.

"Yes, and you must run for it," she said on a note of relief and terror, low that he understood.

"Yes, I must not let them get you. Have you any money? If you haven't I can get some from the bank. I'll drive you over to Harmon—the through trains stop there. You can start west."

"No matter what I've done or what I'm running away from?" he asked.

"No matter what!" She was firm about that. There was not a single question in her mind, not an argument to be met. She, who had never broken a single law in all her 20 years, now advised this man to flee. It was as simple as that.

"Thank you, Katharine."

It was the first time he had ever called her by her name in that way; naturally and simply. Her eyes, quite involuntarily, filled with tears. She turned away to hide them.

"Don't . . . That the old, old pain should be beginning again—why, that was unbearable. She had thought to conquer it for all time.

"You're very good to me," he said, low-voiced. His lean, brown fingers closed over her wrist. He had laid his hand quite unresistingly.

"It was the least I could do," she managed to say, in the silence.

"I can't tell you how it makes me feel," he went on, very gently. He had squared about now to face her. Unwillingly she lifted her eyes to his. There was a split second—and then she was in his arms, her face crushed against his shoulder, against the cloth of that worn tweed coat she knew and loved so well.

There was only this moment of weakness. Then the girl pulled herself away.

"What can we be thinking of?" she cried. "I must—we both of us must be quite mad."

"Save for the first time in months, you mean," said the man dryly. "Let's face it, Katharine."

"There's nothing to face," she said stubbornly. "I rush to tell you that you're in trouble; we both have a silly moment. That's all. You wait here, Michael. I'll dash back to town and get you some money. Then I'll drive you to the train."

He had her hand again in that cool, gentle, curiously strong grip. "I'm mad about you," he said. "You go to hear it now. I've loved you for months. . . . You're going to marry someone else."

Words were out. She hadn't meant to say them.

"Tell me you care a little, too, Katharine." His slate-gray eyes, with the languid lines about them, were wooing, compelling her.

"I can't. It—it wouldn't be true," she lied. But her eyes, her glowing cheeks told the truth. She was in his arms again, as if unwillingly. Their lips met in that long first kiss which is the privilege of lovers. She sprang away.

"Have you—have you kissed Sally Moon like that?" she demanded, panting in young fury.

"You know I haven't."

"How do I know? The whole town's talking. You're engaged to her, aren't you?"

"I was until five minutes ago—"

"You can't jilt a girl, Michael Heathcroe. It isn't in you. I wouldn't let you, anyhow."

Her eyes blazed at him.

"Oh, wouldn't you? Engagements have been broken before this—"

His face was dark; his eyes flashed stormy lightning.

Katharine wrung her hands together. "We're wasting time. Already those men are at the school, looking for you. What are we to do?"

Michael's eyes held her. "You do love me a little, Katharine?" Her name was like a caress on his lips.

Adjournment of Congress Delayed

Law Makers May Be Kept in Session Until December

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—At least what President Roosevelt plans to do about NRA, Congress enters its sixth month Monday under informal notice to delay adjournment until December, if necessary, to enact the New Deal legislative program.

According to learn what step Mr. Roosevelt will take, the NRA and customs both branches are expected to push action on the utility holding company, social security, tax and banking measures.

Despite a Republican move to return the Rayburn-Wheeler utility bill to committee, Senate Democratic leaders Sunday said they had enough votes to pass it by mid-week to clear the way for consideration of the House-approved social security measure.

Heard are to be concluded this week on the omnibus banking bill, but it will be 10 days before it is brought up for Senate action.

A final fight over the $300,000,000 naval supply bill expected by Democratic leaders will close the conference session brought up in the House but have sufficient support to adopt a Senate amendment for constructing new warships.

To Press Liquor Legislation
Plans to speed action on legislation affecting the liquor industry to take the place of NRA codes will be pushed Monday at a closed session of the House Ways and Means Committee, which also will consider late in the week re-enactment of $200,000,000 revenue taxes which expire July 1.

After considering a revision of the administration of the Home Relief Act, the Senate is expected to be reported to the Senate by its Agriculture Committee in a form, Chairman South believes, which will meet the constitutional limits defined by the Supreme Court's NRA decision.

A new effort to speed soldier bonus legislation enacted at this session is scheduled at adjournment of House leaders Tuesday. A Democratic proposal will be considered.

Await Word From White House
Reaction to the president's views on the NRA decision continued to pour into Capitol Hill. Democratic leaders said they would hold off action on any "step gap" legislation until they received definite word from the president.

Roosevelt Signs Farm Credit Act

Said to Offer Opportunity for Tenants to Purchase Farms

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Roosevelt Monday signed the Farm Credit Act of 1935. Administration officials said it offered an opportunity for many tenants to buy their own farms. The new law extends and modifies provisions of the Farm Credit Administration.

Gov. Gov. William I. Myers announced reductions in loan interest rates. "One reason why farm tenancy had increased so steadily in the United States during the past 20 years is because it has been so difficult for young farmers and tenants in many sections to finance the purchase of farms on reasonable terms," he said.

"The new provision enabling the Land bank commissioner to make loans for the purpose of purchasing farms provides a new opportunity for young farmers and tenants to become farm owners and home owners." The new act extends until January 1, 1940, the time during which the Land bank commissioner may make direct loans to farmers on first or second mortgages. Not more than $7,500 may be loaned to one farmer, and the amount of the commissioner's loan, plus existing debts, may not exceed 75 per cent of the appraised normal value of the farm.

Under the amended law, loans can be made to finance purchase of farms. Formerly, Land bank commissioner loans could be obtained only to refinance debts, to repurchase farms lost through foreclosure and to use as working capital.

Believes Cotton Raisers Protected

Senator Bankhead Sees No Cause for Alarm in NRA Decision

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Another "plow-up" program was suggested Monday by Senator Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, as "an ace in the hole" to assure that this year's cotton crop will not exceed the bargeage quota set by the Farm Administration. "The decision in the NRA case," said Bankhead, "will not prevent the administration from protecting the purchasing power of the cotton producers."

Two methods of protecting this year's crop were cited, one was a continuation of the 12-cent-a-pound loans, and the other, "going back to the farmers, if it later appears to be necessary to do so, and rent additional acreage planted to cotton and avoid the harvesting of the rented acreage."

Bankhead has a request at the White House for an appointment to give immediate announcement that the 12-cent loans be extended to the new crop.

However, he said, "with production below consumption and with practically all the carryover cotton under 12-cent loan and not subject to sale at less than 12 cents plus carrying charges, a satisfactory price would seem evident even without a 12-cent loan."

Possibility of a plow-up, on a voluntary plan similar to 1933 when farmers were paid by the government to destroy growing cotton was put forward as an alternative for use only if favorable weather and other growing conditions indicated an above-quota crop and threatened the goal of reducing the carryover by 1,000,000 bales.

"There is no doubt about the farmers' complying with any program of that sort which may be presented to them by the administration," said Bankhead.

$1.09 would be taxed 2 cents. Under the other system, which Mr. Wiseman said appeared to be favored by a majority of merchants, the free bracket would be one to 12 cents, inclusive; the one-cent bracket would be 13 to 63 cents, and the two-cent bracket would be 63 cents to $1.12.

The merchant would be responsible for the two per cent tax on gross sales, but the tax coverage on sales in the higher brackets would be depended upon to make up for the tax on sales in the free bracket.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—Prof. Felix Frankfurter of Harvard Law School knows the U. S. Supreme Court inside out. Few are better qualified to suggest to the administration how liberally it can afford to interpret the opinion which yanked the ice from under the New Deal skating party. There would have been no Schechter decision had Frankfurter's advice been taken.

So no insider was surprised when the professor, on summons, slipped through one of the many shielded entrances into Roosevelt's offices at a time when the president was calling for advice.

Frankfurter hadn't been around the White House for a long time. His visits began to drop off about 14 months ago, when the president began deliberately to enter to the big business element, in the hope of obtaining its aid for recovery.

A couple of other fellows were bargaining in and out of the White House at about the same time—General Hugh Johnson and NRA Chairman Donald Brandeis.

It was the same Johnson who now gallantly admits large responsibility for policies under which NRA gave the reins to the industries it was "controlling" and let the code authorities run wild—the state of affairs which made the supreme court maddest of all.

And it was the same Richberg who had insisted on rushing the chicken case up to the court at a time when the Schechter boys would have been only too happy to compromise, who had offered to stake his legal reputation on a favorable verdict.

An "I-told-you-so" chorus from the Brandeis-Frankfurter proteges in New Deal legal ranks has been ranging sourly in the ears of Mr. Richberg.

Closest to Brandeis

Frankfurter probably is closer to Brandeis than is any other human being. He is the justice's chief interpreter and disciple as well as an outstanding student of the court.

He was intimately associated with the late Justice Holmes, as he is now with some other members of the court. Annually, for many years, he sent from his school prize pupils to become secretaries to Brandeis and Holmes.

Frankfurter knows—as few realize—that justices can be emotional human beings, that they sometimes may act like prima donnas, that they even may become hysterical under pressures and responsibilities as great as the New Deal has thrust upon them.

He knows that the court's intellectual somersaults and back flips are such that no man can say a decision of today will be that of two years ago or that of two years hence the same as today's.

He knows that the court in the Schechter decision left the administration some real loopholes—and also left itself in a position to insist, if it likes, that those loopholes aren't holes at all.

Knew Defeat Would Come
Frankfurter had known how violently Brandeis felt about such vast delegations of power as were conferred by NRA. He knew what a horrible thing the lumber code, involved in the Belcher case, would seem to Brandeis and some of his liberal associates on the bench.

So he became partially responsible for the administration's withdrawal from the Belcher case as its NRA test. He and his followers here then insisted that the Schechter case, with its far-fetched relation to interstate commerce, gave the court an opening of barn-door size through which to walk over the New Deal's prostrate form.

Frankfurter felt there was no need of a test case decision, on which all might be lost, prior to expiration of NIRA on June 16. With no further evidence than that laid down by the supreme court in the oil code case, he and court in the oil code case, he and his clan would have had NIRA rewritten in an effort to meet the court's obvious views as to delegation of power and gone on under the new act for a while.

Clamor Forces Hand
But there was widespread demand for a supreme court decision before Congress extended NRA. Richberg and NRA lawyers, sharing with Johnson—apparently with Roosevelt—the idea that the court wouldn't molest their holy bird, insisted on shoving the Schechter case right into the debacle.

Although Mr. Richberg is a most unhappy man and there are many who think Dr. Frankfurter shows up brilliantly in the light of events, the Richberg adherents are muttering in reply that if Dr. Frankfurter's advice hadn't been accepted NRA would have been tested long ago and time obtained to work out a new law carefully.

She calls it a Cook's Tour

Nobody thought Katherin would make a very good wife. She seemed too frivolous. Always made a game out of everything. Hadn't a practical thought in her head—so it seemed.

Maybe that's why she does make Ed such a good wife. You still wouldn't think she was serious about a thing. Yet she must be. Because you've never seen a house kept better in your life. Or a budget balanced more neatly.

Most women come home from shopping all tired out. Not Katherin! She makes a grand game of it . . . calls it her weekly "Cook's Tour." She pores over her newspaper like a travel map . . . charts a course that takes her to bargain ports . . . and gets there without one wasted step.

How? She follows the advertisements. Watches them as closely as a sailor watches his compass. And she gets fun out of it all. But who wouldn't, with a happy home like hers and her knack for saving up money!

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK.—It wasn't Tony Lazzeri's fault that the young man was an epileptic. It so happened that "Send Lazzeri back, fits and all," was the Salt Lake owner's terse reply.

The Yankees kept Lazzeri, and it is unnecessary to say that they haven't been sorry.

Barrow Stymied Ruth

Lazzeri hasn't been as great a playing power or drawn as much money as Babe Ruth, for whom the organization paid Harry Frazee, then head of the Boston Red Sox, $125,000 in the spring of 1920.

Barrow didn't have anything to do with that deal, however. It was suggested and closed by the late Miller Huggins. Barrow never did get along with Ruth—not since they were manager and player at the Hub. It is said that it was principally Barrow's opposition that kept Ruth from landing the management of the Yankees.

Barrow made two fine buys for the Yankees in the spring of 1926—Lazzeri and Mark Koenig, who came from St. Paul for $35,000 and three players.

Koenig and Lazzeri, who first played baseball in the parks and on the sandlots of San Francisco, were one of the few young second basing combinations to take a major league array to a pennant in their first year.

Lazzeri's comeback this season makes an interesting story.

The Yankees have been trying to trade him since 1931, when his batting average dropped to .267.

Lazzeri was slated to go to Washington for Buddy Myer and a pitcher in June of that year.

Joe McCarthy and Clark Griffith went as far in their negotiations as to arrange a meeting at Wilmington, but Griffith mentioned the prospective barter to baseball writers a bit too early. The news services carried the story, and McCarthy, reading it in New York left Griffith in the hotel lobby at Wilmington.

Four or five American League clubs would like to have Lazzeri now.

Lazzeri weighed 182 pounds a year ago. He is now down to 168, which is what he scaled when he first reported to the Yankees. He attributes this to his abstaining from beer.

Oddly enough, with all their success, the Yankees haven't had real double play efficiency around second base until this season. When they had a good shortstop, they lacked a second baseman who couldn't pivot. When they had a second baseman who could handle the ball in double killings, they were without a shortstop polished in that line.

Crockett Clicks With Tony

Frank Crockett has just learned the mechanics of shortstop, and at this very late date Lazzeri has acquired the knack of pivoting.

Their skillful work is shown by the number of double plays completed to date and by one triple play.

Koenig definitely was on his way out when the Yankees let him go to Detroit in 1930.

Koenig landed with the Mission Coasters in 1932, but was brought back to the big show by the Chicago Cubs in the fall in time to hit that aggregate into a world series with a mark of .333 in 33 games.

Chicago let Koenig go to Philadelphia following the campaign of 1933. The Phils traded him to Cincinnati, and the New York Giants obtained him last winter.

The league-leading Giants would have been in a fine fix without Koenig this season. He hit so well that Huggins Criz couldn't get back into the lineup when a finger felon disappeared. With Dick Bartell out with a lame foot, Stoney Jackson's thumb in splints, and Criz having to live another finger felon, Koenig with his remarkable talent at any infield position, comes in particularly handy.

Managing a ball club would be a simple task if all the athletes were as willing, and had the even dispositions, of Anthony Michael Lazzeri and Mark Anthony Koenig.

Annual Picnic Is Set for June 5

Seniors and Juniors Will Go to Pines Swimming Pool

By Alice Louise Wallace
On Wednesday, June 5, the Seniors will entertain the Juniors with a swimming party and a picnic at the Pines swimming pool. The guests other than the Juniors will be the members of the faculty. The party will assemble at the city hall at 5 o'clock and then leave from there in cars. Several hours of swimming will be enjoyed and then the guests will be invited to share a picnic lunch on the grounds of the Pines. Everyone is anticipating a grand afternoon of swimming and good times.

Senior Play Is Given on May 31

'Daddies' Presented Under Direction of Miss Carlton

By Alice Louise Wallace
The Senior Class presented its annual play last Friday night, May 31, in the high school auditorium. The play "Daddies" was directed by Miss Marion Carlton. The weather conditions on that night were favorable, despite the downpour of rain in the afternoon, and a record crowd attended. The story was of a certain Bachelor Club, the members of which were sworn against marriage. Each adopted a child which he thought was a war orphan but later found out that all of them had mothers living or a guardian. After many ups and downs they fall in love with the orphans mothers and pay to the club the allotted penalty agreed upon when a member of the club married. The climax of the play was when one of the club members received triplets. The play was well gotten up and the action was better than the average amateur play. This was due to the past experience of the cast. The cast was as follows: Robert Audrey—Paul Jones. Mr. Crockett—Winfred Dabbs. Mrs. Audrey—Floy Mae Wisener. Mr. Allen—J. W. Harper. Mr. Walters—Willard Anderson. Mr. Rivers—G. B. Martin. Jan Temple—Beatrice Gordon. Bobette Audrey—Geneva Higginson. Katie—Pauline H. Jones. Parker—John Henry Putman. Lorraine—Jean Young. Little "Uncle Sammy"—Nancy Faye Williams. Gustave—Gus Enloe. Francis—John Cecil Weaver. Emilie—Sammy Segnar. The proceeds will be used to finance the annual Senior-Junior picnic which will be held Wednesday, June 5, at the Pines Swimming Pool.

Jones Is Elected Class President

Martin, Gordon and Owen Are Selected as Officers

By Helen Hollamon
At the beginning of the school term there was a big job on hand, the election of the class officers. Who would be president, one of the greatest honors in the high school. After much debating, the final ballots showed the following results:
President—Paul H. Jones.
Vice President—G. B. Martin.
Secretary—Beatrice Gordon.
Treasurer—Ralph Owen.
To be president of a Senior class requires a great amount of leadership and tactful ways, and Paul Jones certainly had all the qualifications for this position. On the other hand, the vice-president must be the kind who is able to fall in the footsteps of the president. G. B. Martin was one who could be depended upon for this.
The position of secretary always calls for writing and more writing—minutes, invitations, acceptances, business letters and the like. Beatrice Gordon fulfilled all the duties of this position, consequently making an excellent class secretary.
When one thinks of a treasurer they immediately think of an honest person and one who can carry on financial matters successfully. Ralph Owen was the boy the class elected for this office.

150 Students Attend Banquet

Gymnasium Was Decorated for Gala Frolic Held May 24

By Alice Louise Wallace
The annual Junior-Senior Banquet was held in the Hope High School gymnasium Friday night, May 24, with approximately 150 students present. The gymnasium was decorated artistically in the pastel shades. Ballroom dancing and square dancing was enjoyed throughout the evening. Many of the guests enjoyed the ping-pong table and the bingo stand. Music for the square dancing was furnished by the string band of our city. Midst the showers of confetti and streamers, the Juniors served a delightful plate composed of ice cream and cake. Each plate was adorned with fresh sweet peas. When the party broke up at 11 o'clock, the students were still enjoying the party to the fullest extent.

Seniors Attend Henderson Day

Miss Jane Orton Represents High School as Maid

By Alice Louise Wallace
About 20 Seniors represented the Hope High School graduating class at Arkadelphia on Henderson Visiting Day, April 12. The various groups arrived at Henderson by 1 o'clock and were registered in the Alumni building. After a short period of mixing and mingling with the crowd, a tour of the campus was made under the direction of Henderson students. Then an assembly meeting was held in the college auditorium, after which the visitors enjoyed many games on the campus. Late in the afternoon, the queen, Miss Mary Louise Holland, attended by her maids, was crowned in the new physical education building. Hope's maid was Miss Jane Orton. Her escort was Guy Payne. After the coronation, everyone assembled in the dining room of Mooney Hall where a picnic supper was thoroughly enjoyed by a thousand hungry guests. Many of the guests remained that night for the dance, held in the new gymnasium. The interior was decorated to perfection and the dancers were lovely in their gowns of many colors.

Music Week Observed

National Music Week was observed on Thursday night with a program at the City Hall by the High School Glee Clubs. The Girl's Glee Club rendered their contest numbers, "Waterlilies" and "Pale Moon," which won first place at the District Literary Meet in Lewisville. The Boy's Glee Club gave their contest numbers, "Bells of St. Mary's" and "The Gypsy Trail" which also won first place at Lewisville. The Girl's trio sang "A Brown Bird Singing." Regina Bayse played her winning contest number on the violin and J. T. Luck played a piano solo, and the Boy's Quartet sang their numbers. The program was concluded with "Swing Low Sweet Chariot" and "Come on Down South" by the Boys and Girls' Glee Clubs.

Outing Enjoyed at Hot Springs

25th Annual Senior Day Celebrated With Visit to Spa

The Hope High School Class left Friday morning March the 29th at 5 a. m. to celebrate their 25th annual Senior Day by visiting Hot Springs National Park, Arkansas. The breakfast hour was held at the "Bluff" on the Ouachita river about three miles north of Arkadelphia. Bacon was fried in a skillet of enormous size and coffee made in a pot equally as big. Not an atom of either was left unconsumed. Everyone enjoyed it although ashes seemed to be the chief seasoning. Everyone arrived at Hot Springs at approximately twenty minutes to nine in spite of some series of flat tires. Since they were not den at the Chamber of Commerce until 9:30 the remaining time was spent looking over the city. Some went to inspect the luxurious hotels. Most of the boys were by this time indulging in their favorite brand of cigars. At nine-thirty they were admitted to the Chamber of Commerce building to look over the broadcasting system of KTHS and secure complimentary tickets to the horse races at the Oaklawn Jockey Club. The management was very kind and gave them a short part on their program in which several members of the class gave a synopsis of the fun they were having—some in a more or less excited manner. Those speaking included: Willard Anderson, Paul Jones, Claudia Whitworth, G. B. Martin, Beatrice Gordon, Ralph Owen, "Dink" Richards, Pauline M. Jones, Guy Payne, Bryon Dulane Brown and Mrs. Stephenson. Almost everyone registered on the visitors register. The next place visited was Grace Point on Lake Cathrine. There was nice club house with a radio and the remaining time before lunch was spent dancing and looking over the premises. A most delightful lunch was spread on the porch of the cottage and everyone had all he or she could eat and enough for a mid-afternoon meal. About 1:30 the party left Grace Point some going to Remmel Dam while others tried to satisfy their ever-present want to tour the city.

Superintendent

Miss Beryl Henry came to Hope High School directly from Bentonville where she had been superintendent of schools for six years. She arrived here to accept the principalship of the Hope High School a few months before the signing of the Armistice in 1918.

After three years in Hope she was away for a year attending school. The next year she came back and continued teaching until 1928-29, when she secured a leave of absence to take her Masters degree from Henderson College. Miss Henry also has a degree from George Peabody College for Teachers.

Miss Henry has attended some of the leading educational institutions of the country doing post-graduate work at the University of Chicago, University of Colorado, and Columbia University, one of the country's largest institutions of learning.

Miss Henry has been connected with Hope schools for a period of sixteen years, serving as Principal of the High School and Superintendent of Schools, during which part of the time serving as both Superintendent and Director of Social Service of Hempstead county. During the course of this time approximately 600 students have been graduated from this school.

Upon her arrival here she began as Principal of the High School in the old building standing at that time on the site of the present Oglesby School on North Main street. The High School was then moved to the Garland building on West Fourth and Fifth and the new Junior High School building erected on West Avenue B. In this change Miss Henry was retained Principal.

In 1930, when Mr. D. L. Paisley resigned, Miss Henry became superintendent and recently has been serving as both superintendent and principal of the High School.

Miss Henry is a fraternity woman, being a member of the Kappa Delta Phi, an honorary educational fraternity. She was recently elected a member of the Phi Delta Kappa.

She is a life member of the National Education Association and also a life member of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and on the State Board of Committee of School Education of the state.

She has been Camp Council of the Southwest District of Girls Reserves at Hollister, Missouri. She is Council for the State for Girl Reserves.

Miss Henry always attends the leading educational meetings of the country and has been a great factor in advancing our school. It was she who first brought the idea of student government to Hope High School, and it was through her efforts that it has finally been made a success in our school.

When asked her home town, she replied, "Hope." When it was then made clear that we wanted to know where "was" her home town she said, "Bentonville was my home town, but I had rather live in Hope than any place I know."

HEARTS HEAVY AS SENIORS SAY GOODBYE.

By Paul Jones

To many persons, this is merely another week of the fifty-two in the year. But to educators and students (Seniors) it is more vital than usual.

Forty-seven boys and girls will be graduated from Hope High School. Some will leave never to enter school again as a student. Others will continue their education in higher schools. But for most of us, experience will be our only means of learning.

We depart from our Alma Mater with a feeling of regret. Yet, for twelve years, we have looked forward to this time. We have worked to achieve this goal and we are making the most of it.

Many close friends will part with an ache in their hearts, probably never to see each other again. Our "old gang" will be broken. Indeed it will be a radical change in our lives.

Yet we, the Seniors of 1935, are proud of our class. We have accomplished what our school has to offer. We now advance to a new and different world. It has many things to offer us. Let us use our knowledge to further our accomplishments in this new life.

Memory has painted these perfect years
 With colors that never fade
 And now farewell to our High School days
 and to the friends we have made.

An SOS CALL

By Beatrice Gordon

We want intelligent young men, not just any old fellow, to do our work. You hear this on all sides from employers. Especially do the older men and women receive this answer when applying for a position. Possibly they are as well trained and know as much about the work as would a much younger person, but the employer wants young, healthy, normal, intelligent, strong men and women.

So, youth of today, this is a call to you, to take advantage of the splendid educational system. It is a plea to you to avail yourself of every chance to become healthy, efficient young men and women.

To be young today is the proudest, grandest thing in the world. High School boys and girls that means you! You go to school for twelve years—why do you go? You go there to train and prepare yourself for your future life; to become an object of pride for your country; to better yourself for this culture, work-a-day, and political world.

"The younger generation is going to the dogs!" so says the older generation. But boys and girls, high school graduates, don't let them say that and get away with it. There are so many things you could do to become loyal, moral, and helpful citizens, and if you haven't started yet, now is the time to begin. Your country is depending on you to bring it out of this terrible crisis into which it has been plunged for the past five years, and rebuild it into a strong, substantial nation. Your parents cannot do this, their day is past, their part is done. They are now depending on you to step into the harness, pick up the lines and make a straight and even row! Your President cannot do this without your co-operation. Every day you see and hear of programs that President Roosevelt is making for our people; our country, and always he makes reference to the fact that the youth, and only the youth can pull America through.

Leadership cannot work with shiftless and non-co-operating followers. Right there boys and girls is an exciting challenge to you. These events that make headlines in the papers, these broadcast speeches, etc., that we hear and read about today, and that we see about us all the times are the things that will make history fifty years hence. Now is the time for every boy and girl to learn by experience just how the world is run, and benefit by it. You wish to grow grow up in a healthier, better balanced and more secure world do you not? Now is the time to make yourself better,—and thus in time to make the world better—and to disprove the statement "The younger generation is going to the dogs!"

Many of the seniors of high school today are completing their school life. The paths to success are becoming wider and wider. Attack, then with the determination to win, to come out on top of the ladder. Don't become discouraged if you don't find your prize at the first venture, try again, nothing can daunt you if you mean to succeed. Aim high! Hit the mark in your ambitions! As some writer once said, "Be tactful, Be accurate, Be tireless, SUCCEED!"

MAKE LIFE WORTHWHILE

By Brocksey Nell Rogers

Make good! Don't explain! Do the things you are expected to do! Don't waste time in giving reasons why you didn't, or couldn't or wouldn't, or shouldn't!

If I hire you to cook for me I want my chops and potatoes on time, done to a turn and appetizing. I am not interested in the butchers mistake, nor the stoves defect, nor the misery in your left arm. I expect food, not explanations. You can't eat explanations.

So, also if you come to me and hire me to do a job of writing by the fifteenth of the month you do not want me to show up on that day with a moving picture story describing why I couldn't do what I was paid for. You want the writing all wool and a yard wide.

This is cold, cruel, heartless talk. It is—to second-raters and shirkers. But to real men it is a joy and gladness. They rejoice to make good themselves, and they expect others to make good.

In the parable of the "Talents" it took the third servant three times as long to explain that he had accomplished nothing as it took each of the others to report their results.

There you have it. The less you do the more you explain. Efficiency! Learn that word by heart. Get to saying it in your sleep.

Of all the joys in this universe, there is none quite so soul-satisfying and so "one-hundred-percentish" as Making Good.

Do you work a little better than anyone else could do it. That is the margin of success.

Making good needs no footnotes. Failure requires many words of explanation.

ARE WE TOO ATHLETIC MINDED?

By Lynette McKamey

Are we too athletic minded? Have we let athletics corrupt our school? This is a question that should be carefully debated by every thinking member of this school. Do we sell or are we ready to give up order, integrity and perseverance together with our sense of honor just to promote a winning football and basketball team? Are we willing to let people who have no love for our school who possess no school spirit and are merely trying to win a name for themselves come into our school corrupt our honor study halls, break down the moral of our school that conscientious students are trying to build up? Are we going to let students who care nothing for an education, for maintaining a school spirit and a school that is one to be proud of tear all of this down? Is he the type of student we wish to be a leader of the younger members of our student body?

A player who is really playing for the glory of his school, who in every minute of that game is striving and putting forth best efforts not to bring recognition for himself but for his school. Yet, a student who will come through with colors flying at all times. He is the student to be pointed out among the crowd a true leader of men and one we would be proud to say, "He belongs to us."

Atheletes have no more right to be an exception as far as passing this work is concerned than any other students. If an athelete can not keep up a passing grade he shouldn't expect it to be given to him as a privilege merely because he is spectacular on the gridiron or the court. Even if he is outstanding, he should maintain his own scholastic record.

If all students would unite in promoting athletics in a fair and sane manner our school would maintain order, spirit, a great record, and a sense of honor as well as promote a winning athletic record.

Graduation

At last the day has arrived, When we must say farewell to Our books, school and teachers, And our friends that we knew.

"Where do we go from here?" we ask.

"Into life's school," we are told, Until now its been school life, With graduation as our goal.

Ready to begin our life's task, And work each assigned task, And follow the road others have followed, Doing what our assigners might ask.

We leave our school tasks to others, To bear and carry that load; Others that have followed us Down this long dusty road.

HONOR ROLL

Honor Graduates Named by Henry

First Four Are Hollamon, Gordon, Owen and Wallace

By Alice Louise Wallace
On Wednesday morning, May 22, in the high school auditorium, Miss Beryl Henry announced the Senior honor graduates. Miss Henry said that the honors this year were based entirely upon grades, that is, on the number of quality points which the students had made.

The four places of honor were as follows: Valedictorian, Helen Hollamon, 190 points; Salutatorian, Beatrice Gordon, 184 points; Prophet, Ralph Owen, 160 points; and Historian, Alice Louise Wallace, with 142 points.

There were seven other honor graduates. Claudia Whitworth and G. B. Martin tied for fifth place with 136 points. The others were as follows: J. W. Franks, 106; Frank Robison, 62 points for two years; Jane Orton, 94 in two and one-half years; Marjorie Byers, 105 for three years; and Floy Mae Wisener, 98 points for three years. The graduation exercises will be held on the lawn of the high school at sundown, on Thursday, June 6.

Etymology Class Shows Much Skill

By Marjorie Byers
The 8-A Etymology classes, Sections 1 and 2, under the direction of Mrs. Broach, have completed many outstanding Latin projects during the past semester.

These projects illustrated the customs, manner or dress, manner of living, modes and warfare, etc., of the Latin people.

Each student made an individual project, some of which were Roman robes, togas, sandals, swords, shields, spears, Roman houses, furniture, Roman writing, materials (scrolls and wax tablets), and Roman roads.

Honor Society Enjoys Party

Home Economics Cottage Scene of Much Gaiety

By Helen Hollamon
The National Honor Society held their first meeting of the year Tuesday evening, May 14, at the Home Economics Cottage. The cottage was beautifully decorated with pink roses and other spring flowers for the occasion.

Miss Henry talked to the Honor Society—on the value of being a member, its high ideals and how they should live to carry them out. Rufus Herndon and Victor Cobb, former members, told how they had been benefited by the National Honor Society in later life.

The faculty and the old members had a good time laughing at the "dumbness" and sometimes "brightness" of the new members. Before they could be installed the following morning in chapel, each one had to answer correctly one out of every three questions the teachers asked. Such questions as "How high is up?" "How far can a dog run in the woods?" and "What did Paul Revere say when he finished his ride?" were asked. Following the business and entertainment, dixie cups and cakes were served. All the members of

5 Juniors Qualify for Honor Society

To belong to this worthy organization you must rank in the upper third of your class in scholarship, you must be outstanding in leadership, character and service. A person asked to join the National Honor Society has received one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon a high school student. The following Juniors had the qualifications necessary: Joe Wray, Lenora Routon, John Clyde Hill, Sara Lou Ledbetter, and Harry Segnar.

the faculty; the old members: Beatrice Gordon and Helen Hollamon; and the new members: Seniors: Paul Jones, G. B. Martin, Ralph Owen, Marjorie Byers, Claudia Whitworth, Alice Louise Wallace, Lynette McKamey, and Floy Mae Wisener; Juniors: Sarah Lou Ledbetter, Lenora Routon, Joe Wray, John Clyde Hill, and Harry Segnar were present. Other guests were Mrs. Glenn Durham, Mrs. Jimmy Jones, Rufus Herndon Jr. and Victor Cobb.

The Seniors' Farewell

Farewell, books, teachers, and friends,
And the school in which we've been a part!
This day of parting has now arrived,
And there is a note of sadness in our heart.

We owe a lot to our teachers.
More than we can ever repay.
From them we learned our knowledge:
The right from wrong in every way.

Some have appreciated this help very much,
Have taken advantage of it in every way.
While others have learned nothing.
Just lazy, failing day after day.

Hereafter, life won't be easy.
To fight this world you must be fit
With the knowledge that was offered you.
Have you taken advantage of it?
—Thomas Griffith.

Classes

Brave Freshmen, filled with high resolves,
Lay siege to Learning's citadel;
The weary months their zeal dissolves,
And long spring days their ardors quell.

Then, with their Freshmen year behind,
They cheerfully renew the fray;
Their stoutest armor, now, a gay
And Sophomores frame of mind.

Again, as Juniors, they return
The prize they strive to gain in view;
And now they labor hard to learn,
their high resolves reborn anew.

As Seniors, with the battle won,
They grasp the coveted degree,
And with wide-open eyes they see,
That now their work has just begun.—Adapted.

To the Juniors

Rock-a-bye, Juniors on the tree top
As long as you study, your grades will not drop—
But if you stop digging your standing will fall
And down will come Junior, diploma and all.

Henry Speaks Honor Society

Says Organization Is Greatest Honor in High School

By Helen Hollamon
"Each of you should strive to attain this goal which these students have reached this morning. It is the greatest honor in our high school because its standards are: character, scholarship, leadership, and service, by which standards these members have been chosen. This is a National Honor Society, which makes these members akin to all the other students who have achieved this honor." Miss Beryl Henry said at the installation service of the National Honor Society which was held in chapel Wednesday morning May 15.

The president of the National Honor Society, Helen Hollamon, presided over the meeting. Beatrice Gordon, secretary of the Society read the communication from the faculty certifying the selection of the thirteen candidates.

Miss Beryl Henry spoke to the assembly on "The Place of Honor Field by the Chapter in the High School." The purpose of the society was given by Rufus Herndon Jr.

William Bundy explained the meaning of the large replica of the emblem of the Society which was displayed on the stage the keystone and the flaming torch with the initial letters of the four cardinal principles of the society.

Following this Helen Hollamon, president, administered the pledge. Standing so that the group outlined a keystone, they lit their torches from hers and pledged themselves to give their efforts to making the ideals of their school — character, scholarship, leadership and service.

Eleana Foster Watkins read the constitution and then Beatrice Gordon, secretary, presided over the signing of the register.

The choice of members were made by the faculty. It represents for each of the members a definite and worthwhile achievement to stand in the upper fourth of their class. These members have shown willingness to serve, to represent the school, and to take part in all school activities.

Each year 15 per cent of the Senior class and 5 per cent of the Junior class may be taken in providing they fulfill the four standards: character, scholarship, leadership and service.

This year 8 seniors were chosen. They were: Paul Jones, G. B. Martin, Ralph Owens, Marjorie Byers, Claudia Whitworth, Alice Louise Wallace, Lynette McKamey, and Floy Mae Wisener.

There were only two members left in the chapter after last spring's graduation. They were seniors, Helen Hollamon and Beatrice Gordon.

To the Juniors

We love you dearly,
We hope you choke,
And die dead, nearly—
Sorry I spoke.

Pauline M. Jones: Gee, you look awful tired. Look at the circles under your eyes.

Wanda Keith: Those are no circles around my eyes Pauline. Those are my glasses.

A. B. Hervey: To me one of your jokes is like a 50 cent fountain pen.

Hoien B.: What do you mean?
A. B.: You can never expect much of a point.

Home Ec Club at State Meeting

Hope Is One of 20 High Schools to Take Part in Meet

By Helen Hollamon

Hope was well represented by Miss Ruth Taylor and nine Home Economics Club girls at the annual State Home Economics Club meeting, which was held in Little Rock, Saturday, May 18. About 200 girls from two colleges and 20 high schools took part in the meeting.

At the morning session the visitors were welcomed by Miss Frances Bailey, president of the Arkansas Home Economics Association. Miss Ruth Powell, supervisor of Home Economics in Faulkner county, presided over the meetings. Miss Dorothy Kent, state supervisor of Home Economics education spoke on "Training for Homemaking in Denmark," and Miss Alma Keys, state supervisor of parent education, talked on "Social Relationships."

At noon a luncheon was served in the Peacock Tea Room, at which Beatrice Gordon acted as toastmistress. The Hope club had charge of the luncheon program and decorations. Alice Louise Wallace gave talk during the luncheon concerning one of the interesting happenings in the Hope club for the past year.

During the afternoon session, Helen Hollamon, president of the Hope Home Economics Club, gave the annual report of this year's work. Miss Lou Ledbetter, president of the Hope club for '33-'34 was selected state president for next year. The 1935 meeting will be held in Little Rock on the last Saturday in March.

Other girls from Hope who attended the meeting were: Mable Bonum, Canada Whitworth, Cathryn Mundy-Brooks, Audra Porter-Field, and Pauline M. Jones.

The Graduate

We set our long long ago,
With a distant port in mind,
And sailed for a distant shore,
To seek whatever we could find.

Not like Columbus, without a guide:

We had a helpful guiding hand
To help when the going was rough;
A protection from ignorant's band.

That port is now in sight,
And we are ready to land.
We'll have someone to welcome us,
And to gladly shake our hand.

There will be others to follow,
And take the same route as we.
They'll receive the same hardy
welcome.

After sailing over this sea.

Although we planned this voyage,
And have at last, come to its end,
We still have the sea of life to sail,
For our voyage is yet to begin.
—Thos. Griffith.

E. B. Phillips: Geraldine, on what grounds does your mother object to me?

Geraldine Murphy: On any grounds within a mile from the house.

Dick Moore: Hasn't that girl a kind face?

Luke Spears: Yeah, a funny kind.

Early to bed and early to rise
While your gal goes out with other guys.

Late to bed and late to rise
And your football letter is some other guys.

Journalism Class Is Presenting Etching

Miss Henry presented a beautiful etching to the Journalism class showing John Hancock, signer of the Declaration of Independence learning to write his name in the Boston Latin School.

This etching commemorates the 300th anniversary of the birth of public education in America.

The Boston "Town" Record for April 23, 1635, reads, "Att a General meeting upon publique notice—it was then generally agreed upon that our brother, Philemont Pormot, shall be intrusted to become scholemaster, for the teaching and nourtering of children with us."

The class wishes to express its appreciation to Miss Henry for this etching and will endeavor to have it framed and keep it as a reference.

Hi-Lights Staff to Have 'Nest Egg' for Next Year

The Journalism Class, publishers of the Hope Hi-Lights, at a business meeting held on Monday morning, decided to use the profits of this year to encourage the continuation of the school journal next year.

The present newspaper is one of the first Hope High School mouthpieces to be financially independent. The expenses were taken care of this year by advertisements and subscriptions.

Upon the suggestion of Miss Henry, the Journalism class determined to start a bank account with the year's profits. The original plan had been to have a Journalism banquet, but because the Hope Hi-Lights is a school organ, the profits were returned to promote school journalism in our high school.

The account will be in the name of Hope Hi-Lights staff, and the class or club publishing a newspaper and adopting that name next year will be given the total profits on the issues of the past term.

Biology Class Studies Hope Water Supply

The 10A Biology class under the instruction of Mr. Jimmie Jones is endeavoring to work out a unit on the water supply of Hope. After it is completed the unit will go to Arkadelphia and if considered adequate, will be sent to the State Department of Education. Several committees have been appointed, one of which is to go to the Water and Light Plant and find out about the wells, reservoirs, method of purification, and other things concerning the plant. Another committee is to find out about the sewerage system and method of disposal. The entire class is planning on a visit to the plant some afternoon after school so that they might obtain some valuable first hand information.

The students are showing a great deal of interest in the work. Several members have interviewed plumbers and employees of the plant. A map has been obtained showing the water lines and another showing the location of the plant and machinery, wells, reservoirs and air ponds.

After the work has been organized Mr. Jones will have some instructor to give the class an oral test.

In connection with this work the class has constructed an aquarium in the bottom of which was placed about two inches of sand covered by two inches of water. After allowing it to settle the aquarium was filled with water and different kinds of plants and mosses were placed in it. Later several kinds of fish were put in it and these afford the class great amusement. It is hoped that they can obtain eggs of fish and frogs so that the students might observe the life cycle of these animals.

Paul Jones: In some ways my girl is like an angel?

LeRoy Henry: Yeah, how's that?

Paul: Because she is always harping.

"Dink"—Where's the funny paper?

Floy Mae W.—The funny paper? Today is Wednesday. I told you not to take a bath last night.

Francis Snyder: "Poss" do you believe in love on sight?

Poss Stroud: Yes, and any other opportunity.

Dr. Kolb Makes Interesting Talk

Dr. A. C. Kolb, a well known physician, formerly of Hope, now in Little Rock, gave an interesting talk in chapel Wednesday, April 10.

"The Effect of Alcohol on the Body and Brain," was chosen by Mrs. Edward Dossett, president of Hope High School P. T. A. as the subject of Dr. Kolb's address.

"Whisky is a member of the hydroxyl group of which wood alcohol is the simplest form," said Dr. Kolb, also saying that as a physician he felt responsible for telling the students about alcohol and what it would do to them.

Any student who would drink any alcoholic beverage after hear-tainly be taking a terrible chance with his health and future happiness.

Miss Shipp (in English Class)—For tomorrow take pages 36, 37, 38, 39, —

Clab Kennedy (Half Asleep)—Hey, Block that punt.

Mr. Jones—How many ribs do you have?

Winfred Babbs—I don't know, Sir, I'm so ticklish I never could count them.

My Bonnie lies over the ocean
My Bonnie lies over the sea
My Bonnie lies over the ocean
How enormous my Bonnie must be!

Isabel Schooley

The Graduates of 1935 greet a new world . . . a world just recovering from the most disastrous period of reverses and calamities ever before recorded.

You will be called upon to bear the greatest burden ever before thrust upon our young citizens. The task of restoring confidence and a return to prosperity and to carry on rests largely upon the young men and women who this year step from the realms of youth and irresponsibility into the world of action. The eyes of the world are upon you today, and we know that you will shoulder the burden with the same determination that has pushed you on during your school career.

The Arkansas Natural Gas Corporation wishes you well and it is with a feeling of confidence and pride that we greet you as men and women today.

Library Gains Many New Books

P.-T. A. Association and Citizens Donate Much Reading Matter

The Library has added many new books to the rows of shelves this past year. A great number of the books were obtained through fines for overdue books and some were donated by students in order to receive service points. The P. T. A. gave the library approximately $50 to buy magazines, new books, and other supplies. The Library club sponsored a book tea last winter and received a number of books.

The Library is indebted very much to Mrs. Farrin Greene, who has given about 50 books and to Dr. Kolb, who has given a set of encyclopedias.

Activities of 1934-35 Glee Club

Candle Light Service Is Given at Methodist Church

The Boy's and Girl's Glee Clubs organized in October with 93 members, 33 boys and 60 girls.

The project for the first semester was the presentation of a candle light service at the Methodist church, December 21. For the occasion 40 large white candles furnished the only light used, and from the impressive processional of the vested chorus throughout the presentation of the cantata "Child Jesus," a spirit of worship prevailed. Soloists for the occasion were Wanda Keith, Frances Snyder, James Butler, and John Clyde Hill.

During the second semester our time was spent preparing for the district contests.

Both Boy's and Girl's Glee Clubs won the Arkansas Federated Music club cups, winning over four other groups. This was the fourth year that the clubs had won in these contests consecutively.

The Boy's quartet, Dennis Richards, James Butler, Garrett Story, and Winfred Dabbs, ably represented the schools and placed third in competition with eight other groups.

French Class Is Given Banquet

By Marjorie Byers

The Senior French Class, sponsored by Miss Shipp, entertained the Junior French Class in the form of a banquet on Thursday, May 2, at 7:30 in the High School Cafeteria.

The main feature of the banquet was the French Language, which was stressed throughout the program.

Each class entertained the other with astunt, which was also given in French, and thoroughly in keeping with the subject.

Those present other than the members of the French classes and their sponsor were the sponsors of the Junior and the Senior classes and Miss Henry.

Sybil—"You brute, you have broken my heart."

Pete—"Thanks, I thought it was a rib."

Charlene Huton: What's the matter Lefty?

Lefty Dabbs: Its my girl—she said I was a swell fellow—a fine fellow and a model boy friend.

Charlene: A model boy friend? Then what are you kicking about?

Lefty: She just traded me in on a new model.

Teachers As Seen By Students

Mrs. Farrin Greene
A very young teacher is Mrs. Greene. By telling jokes, she can make you scream. As for being a teacher there is no hope. Ask her pupils; they can give you the dope.

Jimmie Jones
Jimmie Jones the assistant coach is very difficult to approach. The reason for this, as you all know is because he forgot to grow.

Mr. Durham
Mr. Durham is also short. When something goes wrong, just hear him snort. To him teaching school is just one more strife. Maybe it's because he just took on a wife.

Miss Martha Shipp
Twenty years old is Miss Shipp. For a teacher she sure is a pip. She hates to be called a lady. Maybe it's because her past is shady.

Miss Ruth Taylor
Miss Taylor teaches Home Economics. And how to obtain the beauty touch. But what all the mystery to us is why she drives down Elm street so much.

Miss Broach
Mrs. Broach teaches Journalism. And her classes are well kept. One good thing they have obtained is to build up Hi-Lights and its good rep.

Mr. Hammons
Mr. Hammons has a little to say. And never gets mad it seems. We owe a great deal to him. For giving Hope Hi its good teams.

Miss Milburn
Miss Milburn sure likes to slap. And buy, do the boys get mad; She's slapped so many boys now. That, to her, it's become a fad.

Lawrence Martin
Lawrence Martin used to be an athletic star. And he sure built up a rep. But in the class he's different. He sure makes the freshmen step.

Miss Payton
Miss Payton mastered the English language. The usage of good words and such. And now she's teaching it to freshmen. And Juniors who don't know much.

Mrs. Roy Stephenson
Sarcasm to Miss Stephenson is a trait. When to class someone is late. She is very precise and always neat. And always harping about walking in the street.

Miss Etta Gray Cargile
In listening to Miss Cargile; success we must achieve, Therefore from the study hall we must not leave. She never seems to be very broke, Because during her study halls she always gets a coke.

Mrs. Dean
Many times a year a pupil's thought, Goes out to someone dear. For those thoughts will be of Mrs. Dean. To her all pupils give cheer!

Did You Ever Hear?

Freeman Stone—I ain't seen airc football game.

Dennis Richards—Aw! I know better.

Wingfield Stroud—Who in the h—l got my soap.

Luther Spears—Clab you through with that short.

Coach Hammons—Do you see what I mean.

Ray Turner—Now I'm out here to learn something.

Guy Payne—Yeah! but Coach I—

Jimmie Jones—See! Now keep your head up and your tail down. Now don't that feel better.

R. C. Kennedy—Ole Bull Durham done got me.

Tootsie Cargile—Coach I got to get off early and go practice on my trombone.

Dick Moore—Coach, this foot hurts my shoe.

Zeylon Holly — Ye-ow-ee we're gonna pop your pistol.

J. W. Seecrest—Now I'll just bet you money that the Cardinals win the pennant.

Hugh Reece—I hope Freeman ain't eat all of aunt Minnie's chocolate pie.

A certain college kept a record in their date bureau of the number of calls made by young men for blonds. In the check up it was found that only 23 per cent of the calls were for blonds.

Mr. Lawrence Martin, present teacher in Hope Junior-Senior High school was a four-letter man in high school and played on the best basketball team Hope ever produced.

Jimmie Jones proudly boasts that he had the pleasure of beating Prescott once while he played football—but that was his freshman year in college. It was a lot of fun never-the-less.

Seniors Extend Last Farewell

Success and Best Luck Is Given Juniors, Sophomores

By Thos. Griffith

June, 1935 will long remain in the memory of the members of the senior class, because that is the date of their graduation from Hope High School.

The day for which we have been waiting so long has come upon us suddenly. It reminds us that our time is up and we have accomplished that which was required of us in Hope High School.

We are proud of our achievements and regret that we have to leave our school for we have found warm fellowship from our fellow students.

To the Juniors who are about to fill the vacancy left by us, we wish them every success in the world.

To the Sophomores and Freshmen, we wish continued success until they have attained the same goal as we.

The Seniors' Farewell

Well, I guess our time has come. When our school days must end, Now we're students of life instead of school. Our start in the business world must begin.

Now we must face this world, And take what comes and goes, What we will be ten years from now— Well, not anyone knows.

If we could have a future meeting, Well, say ten years from now, And compare our life's adventures, Of what we did and how—

Some of us would be successful: Aged and use to the grind, Of the business world and who make The best of whatever they find.

But others would be different, Had failed in the business field, And met defeat face to face, Gradually having to yield.

But now we leave our task for others, To bear and carry this load, And wish them continued success Down this long dusty road.

Sophomores Wish

I don't get any attention, I'm only a sophomore, My name gets never a mention, To magnify nor deplore.

The seniors are petted and courted, Ah, me, but that must be fine, The Juniors don't go unreported, For they are next in line.

The Freshies are ardent and funny, Impossible to ignore, I don't get the gibes nor the honey, I'm only a sophomore.

—Selected.

Ten Years Ago.

Lawrence was elected captain of the Hope Bobcat basketball team. Hope vs. Waldo—Score: Hope 1, Waldo 0.

Jimmie Jones was elected assistant manager of the basketball team.

Hope beat Texarkana 22-11. Jack Robison won first prize for finding the most Easter eggs at the annual Junior-Senior picnic.

Jimmie Jones is splendid and fine athlete.

When he sees Ruth Pate how his heart does beat.

Athletic Society

Members of the Hope Chapter of the Athletic Scholarship Society of Secondary Schools for the year 1935 were announced and installed in a special chapel program, Wednesday morning May 22.

Rev. Harrison, pastor of the Methodist church gave a very beneficial talk on the honor of being a member of this society.

Eligibility to membership in this society is limited to those boys earning an athletic letter in one of the four major sports, or letters in two minor sports whose average in their school work for three consecutive semesters is equal to or about the general average of the school, and who have exemplified the highest type of citizenship and sportsmanship.

New members installed were: Ralph Owen, senior; Zeylon Holly, junior, and Willard Anderson, senior.

The purpose of this society is to foster high scholarship among boy athletes, to stimulate a desire for balanced training, to elevate the ideals of sportsmanship, and to develop more outstanding leaders in the secondary schools of the United States.

Senior Softball Game

The Senior girls of Mrs. Stephenson's room challenged each other to a duel in the form of a softball game, held on the football field on Friday morning, May 10.

The players wore red, blue, white, striped slacks. Some of them wore faded blue overalls. The game was especially interesting to the spectators when the players became entangled in the legs of their slacks and went sprawling to the ground in their haste to reach first base.

Among the sensational players were: Ruth Ann Cumbie, Mara Louise Dodd, Helen Hollamon, Geneva Higgason, and Auda Porterfield.

Referees for the game were: Miss Henry and Mrs. Hammonds. The score was 20 to 0, in favor of Miss Shipp's home room.

Fraternity Organized Here

A Sigma Delta Phi Fraternity was organized here Monday night, May 6, at the City Hall.

The following were admitted as charter members:

Willard Anderson, Gordon Bayless, Frank McLarty, Charles Briant, G. B. Martin, Paul Jones, Bob Linaker.

Glee Clubs Are Presented Cups

Win Trophies at District 10 Literary Meet at Lewisville

At the assembly program on Wednesday April 24, the boys and girls Glee Clubs were awarded trophy cups which they had won in the District meet at Lewisville. The cups in turn were presented to the school by Paul H. Jones and Pauline H. Jones, presidents of the boys and girls glee clubs respectively.

The Girls Glee Club sang their contest number, "Waterlilies," which took first place at Lewisville and would have taken it again had the student body anything to do with it. The boys sang their optional, "The Bells of St. Marys," which also took first place in the District meet.

On the same program representatives of the student council gave reports on a recent Southern Schools Student Government Convention which was held in Hot Springs.

Junior Class Adopts Motion Picture Unit

The Junior English class under direction of Miss Etta Grey Cargile, started a unit of Motion Picture study on Monday, April 7. They are to study the actors and the types of the pictures produced.

Miss Cargile is trying to install in the students a better understanding of pictures and a desire for the more educational types. They are to pay more attention to the scenery and costumes to see whether or not they are authentic.

Miss Ruth Ann Cumbie gave an interesting report on the French movies, taken from the "Le Petit Journal" and the class discovered that the French producers do not uphold the high standards of production that American producers do.

This unit was chosen by Miss Cargile because she wanted the class to study a subject that would interest each member.

Lighting a Candle

They're walking out. It's their privilege. They'll graduate next week. Walking out of auditorium around fifty of them. Some walking slowly, close to tears; realizing that this part of their life is over. The phase of happy-go-lucky days with no sense of responsibility is completed. Who are "they," you say? Seniors! What does that mean? It means that they have completed twelve years of school; that they are starting out in a new era. What is the new era, you say? It is the beginning of the age of dependability. The responsibility that has heretofore been borne by your parents and teachers will now be lifted from their shoulders to yours. Responsibility! Can you take it. Has the more than adequate knowledge that you should have received been assimilated so that you will know how to cope with a world that requires tact, common sense and a dependable nature?

Don't say, "Well, I didn't do much in High School, so I probably won't ever be able to."

"Is it better to curse the darkness or to light a candle?" Cervantes once remarked, "Everyone is the son of his own works." It's never too late to start. Forget your mistakes and try again. Time may wait for no man but it is a gentle healer of errors.

Seniors, you are capable of doing many things. There are many opportunities before you. Don't scorn them! Be indefatigable in your efforts to success and you will gain it.

In 1925 Hope was trounced by Prescott for 34 points. In 1935 Prescott was trounced by Hope for 34 points.

We, the Seniors, congratulate the biology classes this year for the splendid work they have done in cleaning up the aquarium and the fish pool on the grounds, under the direction of Mr. Jones.

The Hope Hi-Lights, the school paper is edited by members of the junior class. Anyone can tell that by reading it. Gosh! Do they think a lot of themselves! Wheeeeee.

She stood on the bridge at midnight, Her voice was all a-quiver, She had to cough, her leg fell off And floated down the river.

Basketball Game Won By Seniors

In a basketball game between the Junior and Senior classes, athletic period, Thursday, April 14, the Seniors won over the Juniors by a small score of 17-13. The game was hard fought and was close until near the end, when the Seniors scored twice just as the bell rang. Kennedy and Turner were high point men for their respective sides.

Four Years of Football History at Hope High School Is Reviewed

1934 Team, Coached by Hammons, the Most Impressive

By Willard Anderson Copied

The 1930 football season was marked by one outstanding event. Hope defeated Prescott by a score of 7 to 0, breaking a 10 years' jinx on the Curley Wolves' field. Outstanding players were Lynn Harrell, Bill Wray, Ikey Pitchett and Neil Bacon.

This was the high spot, the climax, of an extraordinary successful season. Losing only to Malvern, Camden and Nashville, the former two, contenders for the state title, Hope was scored on in only three of these games. The Bobcats lost to Nashville only on account of over-confidence, proving the first quarter that they had the stronger team.

Hope defeated Ashdown, Magnolia, DeQueen, Waldo, Prescott, Arkadelphia and tied Gurdon in a game that Hope protested. Lynn Harrell scored three touchdowns against Ashdown and Pete Brown starred in the next two games. Against Waldo Neil Bacon showed up well in his line plunging. In the Arkadelphia game on a muddy field Bill Wray scored the only touchdown by getting loose for a 60 yard run. Harrell was the outstanding player for Hope in the Malvern and Camden games, scoring Hope's only tally in the Malvern game by intercepting a pass and running about 20 yards for a touchdown. Against Camden his consistent and long punting kept the score from being larger than it was.

A big factor in the Bobcats' success was Coach Charles Wilkins, who led the team with a quiet, but commanding leadership. Coach Wilkins molded a powerful line, at which he was quite adept.

1931 Copied

The 1931 football season was not as successful as 1930 was. Hope losing to Prescott 20 to 0. Although Hope had just as good a team as the Curley Wolves the jinx seemed to be working again.

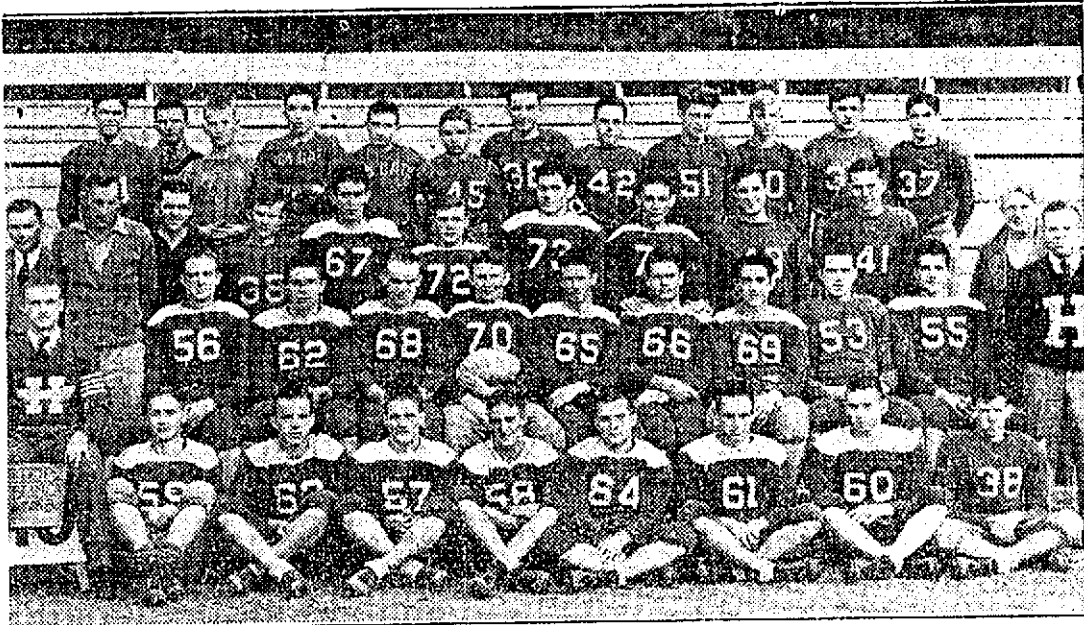

The Nashville Thanksgiving game was another top-shot of the season. The score 20 to 0 indicates nothing of the closeness of the game as Hope really played them off their feet.

The outstanding players for the season of 1931 were Pete Brown, "Tiger" Rowe, Lloyd Berry, J. D. Jacks, "Son" Jones, Dillard Breeding, Jack Turner, Ikey Pitchett, Mutt Hargis, J. W. Harper, Neil Bacon, Hugh Chamberlain, "Bull" Schooley, Edwin Sissell, Red Kennedy and Mitchell. Coach Wilkins resigned as athletic coach at the end of the 1932 season.

1932 Copied

The 1932 football season marked the debut of Teddy Jones as coach.

1934 Hope High School Football Team

Bottom Row—Byron (Pete Brown, quarterback, Nolan Cargile, halfback, Wingfield Stroud, halfback, J. W. Harper, quarterback, Kenneth Madison, halfback, Luther Spears, fullback, Guy Payne, quarterback, Jack Turner, halfback, and Earl Ponder, halfback.

Second Row—Roy Anderson, Coach Foy Hammons, Willard Anderson, end, Freeman Stone, tackle, Ralph Owen, guard, R. C. Kennedy, end (C), Dennis Richards, guard, Zeylon Holly, center, Dick Moore, tackle, Lester Hobbs, tackle, Percy Ramsey, end, and Assistant Coach Jimmie Jones.

Third Row—Aubrey Green, manager, Hugh Reece end, Leonard England, guard, J. W. Secret, center, Frank Barr, guard, Dick Hamilton, end, Arthur Bailey, tackle, and Miss Beryl Henry, Superintendent.

With mostly raw material on hand the prospect wasn't so bright for that year. Coach Jones had two well organized teams by the opening game, which was with Dierks.

Cocksure with the weight and experience favoring them by three touchdowns the Bobcats entered the opening game and took it on the chin 6 to 7 because of over-confidence. Somewhat humbled the Bobcats won the next game with Ashdown and went on to a fairly successful season.

Hope played two of the strongest teams in the state, Little Rock and Hot Springs, being defeated both times although the Bobcats put up a game fight. Otis Rowe ran 88 yards against Hot Springs for Hopes only touchdown.

Berry, Brown, Rowe, Richards, Turner, Breeding, Chamberlain and Jones were the outstanding players of the season.

1933 Copied

The 1933 season was marked by both good and bad playing on the part of the Bobcats. They won the first game of the season with Ashdown and were then defeated by Camden who always has a strong team.

In the Lewisville game there appeared a new Bobcat star, Kenneth Madison, who proved to be, before the season was over, the most versatile backfield man Coach Jones had. Hope defeated Lewisville by a large score. The Bobcats went on then to defeat Locksburg, DeQueen, Texarkana, Dierks, and Malvern, and lost to Hot Springs, Prescott, Nashville and Waldo.

Hope lost to Waldo on account of an old fault of hers, over-confidence. In the last few minutes they staged a comeback and were headed for a touchdown when the whistle blew.

The outstanding feature of the season was the Bobcats' playing Hot Springs on Thursday night and then Texarkana Saturday afternoon. The Trojans defeated the Bobcats 12 to 6 in a very close game. Madison ran 60 yards for a touchdown, but was called back by the officials who said he stepped out of bounds.

An outstanding feature all season was Brown's passing and Turner's blocking. Other prominent players were Urban, Chamberlain,

(who made the all-state second team), Mitchell, Cargile and Harper and Drake.

1934 Original

The season of 1934 was begun with a new man at the helm of the Bobcat machine, Coach Foy Hammons.

At the beginning of the season the fans criticized them for taking on more than they could handle in the schedule.—But—Did they?

The Cats came through the season with a good record of seven victories and four defeats. They suffered only one serious defeat and that was in the hands of Hot Springs, the State Champions.

This season marked the rise of Hope football from the ranks of the weaker class teams to competition with the best the state has to offer and this season demanded the respect of those teams and turned Arkansas sporting eyes on Hope. We sincerely hope that the team will continue to rise.

Hope placed five members on the All-State Team selected by the Arkansas Democrat. Those were: R. C. Kennedy, end, first team, Guy Payne, quarterback, second team. Those receiving honorable mention were Dennis Richards, guard, Freeman Stone, tackle, and Kenneth Madison, halfback.

The record of the season is as follows:

- Hope 71, Hamburg 0.
- Hope 14, Camden 0.
- Hope 6, Fordyce 13.
- Hope 0, Hot Springs 32.
- Hope 18, El Dorado 13.
- Hope 32, Texarkana 0.
- Hope 33, Arkadelphia 0.
- Hope 34, Prescott 6.

- Hope 59, Malvern 12.
- Hope 0, Little Rock 10.
- Hope 0, Nashville 13.

Where Honor Is Due

When someone asks about the track team of Hope, he immediately receives the answer, Nolan "Tootsie" Cargile, one man track team was Tootsie this year, and he really "Put Hope on the map" in the District 10 meet held at Texarkana on Saturday, April 27, and at the State High School track meet at Conway, March 2 and 3.

In the District meet Tootsie won first place in both the high and low hurdles, second in the 100 yard dash and broad jump, and third place in the high jump to score a total of 18 points and become second high point man.

In the State Meet he won second place in both high and low hurdles. Although Cargile is not a Senior the graduates of 1935 wish to show him in this small way their appreciation of his hard work and loyalty to the school, also to congratulate him on his splendid achievements for himself and the school.

Football and Basketball Teams Captained by Kennedy

By Willard Anderson

Kennedy—Kennedy has been Captain of both the football and basketball team in this senior year. He also received all-state recognition in football last year. He made a good end for three consecutive seasons. He is most generally known as "Clab." We hear he received that nickname at Hot Springs several years ago at the American Legion Baseball meet. We hate to lose him but all of them must be lost some time or other. Maybe some one can be found to fill his shoes.

Richards—Richards has been a stellar guard in all his four years of football. Last year he received the gold football for the most valuable man on the team. He has been handicapped the last two years with the loss of his right hand, but never gave up. He was better than the average guard, with only one hand. The two guard positions that he and Owens formerly occupied are going to be the hardest to fill in the '35 season.

Owen—Owen played a jam up guard for the '33 and '34 seasons. He is very light but never a better guard put on a football uniform for Hope High School. Ralph has some wonderful scholastic achievement along with his ability as a football player. Ralph played on the ground most of the time and seldom any team had a play that was strong enough to move him. He had a left hook that just naturally stuck to a ball carrier.

Payne—Payne was one of our stellar ball carriers. As a rule ball carriers are fast, light, and easy hurt. It was not true with Guy. He never failed to get up when he was hit hard. And some of the teams we played this year could hit plenty hard. Guy has gone now through and it has been removed that he will be the next Senator from Louisiana.

Brown—Brown played only two games of the '34 season, but such a two games it was. One on the big end of a score against Hamburg of 76-0. Another against Camden 14-0 in our favor and re-member, Camden was the only team to defeat Hot Springs although Hot Springs won the championship. A quarter and passer like him is going to be hard to find but the boys that are left are including a little clause in their prayers every night for a good quarterback. We hope he makes good in college if Sybil doesn't swamp him.

Mattison—Matt was an excellent half. He played for Hope two years and won high honors as the man to do things in a pinch—like score in a pinch. He was fast and hard to catch as a rabbit. His accuracy was responsible for more than one first down when it became necessary to take to the air.

We remember him when we were trailing El Dorado 13-7 and a beautiful 30-yard pass to an end who was good for thirty more evened up the score and then in less than four minutes it was him that rang up the deciding touchdown.

Hobbs—Hobbs was a man. When the going got rough he could stay there and pitch with the toughest of them. Someone was always picking on his shins and if there was anything that made him sore it was his shins. He could usually be depended upon to plug his part of the line and anyone else that was in reach.

England—England was about the fastest and trickiest little lineman you ever saw. He only played football one year but he picked up four stripes in basketball. He was one of the best guards in basketball that Hope ever produced. He always came out at every tournament on the all district five. We sure wish he had another year of football.

Harper—Harper another football player who deserves much credit. He was a fast and shifty man and he will be missed sorely by the Bobcats next year.

Dabbs and Griffith—Dabbs and Griffith will also be lost in basketball. They could be depended on in every game to come through like veterans.

Hope High Band Has 25 Members

Concert Given at Assembly Program May 1

By Marjorie Byers

The Hope High School Band, composed of 23 members, and under the direction of Mr. Crumpler, presented a very entertaining concert in assembly program Wednesday, May 1.

The band members were dressed in their uniforms of red and white, this color scheme being carried out by the red caps, ties, and sashes.

This concert showed the splendid work that Mr. Crumpler and his band members have been doing this year, and credit is due he and his band for making it possible for Hope High School to be represented at the State Band Contest at Hot Springs, May 9, 10, and 11.

The members of the band are as follows:

William Routon, Mary Della White, Daisy Dorothy Heard, Thomas Kinser, Joe Wimberly, Carlene Bruner, Mary Francis Bruner, Mary Evelyn Whitworth, Nolan Cargile, Harry Segnar, J. T. Luck, Pete Oliver, W. D. Oliver, Thomas Honeycutt, Jack Honeycutt, Claude Nunn, Wallace VanSickle, Luther Garner, Giles Gibson, David Davis, Payton Kolb, Gus Bernier, Paul Arnett, J. K. Sales, C. Cooke, and Geraldine VanSickle—Band Sweetheart.

Special numbers were rendered by: William Routon, Clarinet Solo; Wallace VanSickle, Cornet Solo; W. D. Oliver, Snare Drum Solo; J. T. Luck, Trombone Solo.

The band gave two selections; a march, and their contest number, which they played in the All-State Contest at Hot Springs May 9, 10 and 11.

Hope to Finals Basket Tourney

Texarkana Wins Out When Reece Is Declared Ineligible

By Willard Anderson

At the close of the 1934-35 basketball season, the District No. 10 was held in the Hope High School gymnasium.

This was the most successful affair of its kind to ever be held in Hope by the support of the school. Homes and breakfast for one and two nights were contributed by the students. Some twenty teams participated in the tournament bringing a body of about 200 boys to be taken care of.

The Student Council was in charge of the tournament and a group of students were appointed by the president to manage the complete affairs of the occasion. Some cared for the tickets, others managed the halls and acted as guides, others cared for the dressing rooms and lockers, seeing that towels and soap were issued the boys and that each team had a sponsor a boy appointed to take care of each team. Still others served at odd times on duty in the gym to see that the building and equipment was taken care of.

The whole affair was a great success from start to finish. If you, for we can't say we, want the tournament next year, we hope that we have helped to make it so pleasant for the contestants that they will want to come back and you will make it a success again.

Hope Goes to Finals

At the beginning of the tournament, Hope was successful in defeating Walkerville 38-18, for the second game of the tournament. Many teams were eliminated in rapid succession through each session of the tournament. Hope took down its foes as they came, easily winning over Taylor and Ashdown 38-12 and 24-18 Friday night. In the semi-finals Saturday afternoon Hope met Horatio and won an easy victory of 37 to 26.

And then came those fateful finals. Hugh Reese, stellar forward who has been ringing markers from all over the court was protested as ineligible by Texarkana, Ark. The team was very confident of their strength until the hour of the game when they learned of the tragedy. They entered the game with a wonderful spirit to do their best in spite of all odds—but a wonderful combination was broken.

They entered the game for second place with McNeil, a bunch of tired weary boys, actually asleep on their feet. The best men could not have won under those circumstances and coach Hammons spared his best men from that by letting the second stringers play it for the experience only.

Remember—there is always another year.

To Miss Henry

To Miss Henry we all turn our gaze,
She meets each as a familiar friend;
Though tears and laughter soon die out,
Sweet memories of her will never end.

The Seniors say farewell Miss Henry,
We say goodbye at last
And though we look toward the future years,
Our thoughts will turn to you and the past.

Policeman: Hey! you, didn't you hear me yell at you to stop?
Miss R. Taylor: O! was that you? I thought it was just somebody I hit.

Ray Turner: "There goes Mr. Durham, the entomologist. He goes around killing worms and insects."

R. C. Kennedy: "Well, you should be glad. He hasn't spied you yet."

Mrs. Stephenson: In what battle was Gustavus Adolphus killed?
R. C. Kennedy: His last I think.

To Juniors

Explanation of Graduation is impossible,
Something that we just can't do,
And after all, Experience is the best teacher
So, Juniors, good luck to you!
—The Seniors.

Student Council
Convention at Spa

By Marjorie Byers

Twelve student council representatives and their sponsor, Mr. Glen Durham, attended the annual conference of the Southern Association of Student Government, which was held in Hot Springs on April 19 and 20.

While at the convention they learned many new ideas for handling the problems of the school for next year.

This was the third meeting of the Association, and representatives from states from all the South attended.

The meeting was held at Little Rock last year, and during this year much good was gotten from the information learned there.

Those attending from our school were:

Mr. Glen Durham, Sponsor; Willard Anderson, President; Joe Wray, Patricia Duffie, E. P. Young, Albert Jewell, Leonard England, Mable Barnum, Claudia Whitworth, Archie Chambliss, Kathryn Simms, Anna Dean Westbrook, and Dorsey Fuller.

The meeting will be held in Dallas, Texas next year. The date for the meeting will not be announced until sometime next year.

Miss Shipp: This rainy weather sure is terrible. It reminds me of Eddie Canton.

"Clab" Kennedy: How's that?

Miss Shipp: Always longing for a little son.

Senior Privileges

By Helen Holamon

Don't the Seniors feel important with all their privileges? You would think they would get the big head—but no, they are by far a too good a class and too "dignified."

They got to take their exams May 16-17 and then they were out, as far as class work was concerned. They have had two weeks to work on the Senior Play, Senior-Junior Picnic, Senior Annual, Baccalaureate, and Commencement.

Just think! Come to school any time you get ready and stay just long enough to do your part of the work and then leave. At least they are supposed to leave. But poor Seniors now that they are out, they can't stand it, they must come back.

Another privilege that all the Seniors are boasting about is the fact that whenever they are in school and their stomachs feel the call for a coca-cola or a bar of candy, they may just politely walk down to the Cafateria without getting a permit.

For this, as well as other things, the Senior Class is thankful to Miss Henry, who has made such things possible.

Hope-Preseott Game

A Bobcat met a curly-Wolf one night—
Said the Cat to the Wolf, "So you want to fight?"
The Wolf replied, "You Bet I do",
That night the Bobcats had Curly-Wolf stew.

But the feast was poor because of the fact,
The Wolves were weak and their spirit lacked;
From the start of the game all the Wolves could do,
Was to stand by and watch the "BOBCATS" eat stew.

Guy Payne: Say where did you get that new word?
Willard A.: I coined it—just like that?
Guy: Well, stick to Webster and stop counterfeiting!

Assembly Program
Is Held April 24

A program arranged by the Student Council representatives was given in Assembly on Wednesday morning, April 24.

This program was given for the purpose of informing the student body about what our representatives learned while in Hot Springs attending the Southern Association of Student Government.

Those taking part on the program were: Joe Wray, E. P. Young, Anna Dean Westbrook, Patricia Duffie, Claudia Whitworth and Willard Anderson, president of the student body.

Mr. Durham, sponsor of the student council made a short talk on Loyalty to our form of Student Government.

The Girls and Boys' Glee Clubs sang their contest numbers also.

Geneva Higginson: "I've got a swell idea for a play. The villain of the play takes a hand in a bridge game and rips his pants."

Miss Shipp: Tell me, Geneva, how can he rip his pants playing bridge?

Geneva: A lady takes him out in his weakest suit.

Mrs. Stephenson: I heard a mother mouse say to her daughter the other night: "Go ahead and marry the rat if you want to live in the hole the rest of your life."

Tribute Is Paid
Coach Hammons

Success Here First Year,
Seniors Give Much
Praise

When Coach Hammons came to our town we wondered if we were really getting such a great man. We know now. He deserves every bit of the credit he receives.

He has been in the coaching game for a number of years following his graduation from college in Illinois.

He has coached Ouchita College and Pine Bluff High School. While with the Zebras at Pine Bluff they won the National Championship.

He came here directly from the Monticello A. & M. College. We certainly appreciate the fact that he was not satisfied at the A. & M.

The boys that have participated in athletics at the High School have really learned what a man our Coach is. He is a man of few words but—those words are full of meaning and not spoken for the purpose of bluff or just to have something to say. They have learned the difference in time—time for foolishness and time for seriousness.

We hope that both Coach and Mrs. Hammons will find Hope a pleasant and happy place to live. Although we are leaving and have only known them one year, we hope that the remaining student body will try to make everything as pleasant and try as hard to establish an athletic record as we have.

We, the Seniors, realize how much we owe to Coach Hammons and to him we give our sincerest regards.

7th Grade Gives
Safety Program

By Marjorie Byers.

A very interesting program on Safety First, was given by Mrs. Broach's 7th Grade Home Room in assembly Wednesday morning, May 8.

Much valuable information was given by those on the program.

The following program was given at the request of the P. T. A.:

Safety First Dialogue—Mary Ann Haynes.

Safety First (in wonderland)—E. P. Young.

Safety Song — Seventh Grade Girls.

Safety First Play.

Safety First Poem—Verle Allan.

7th Grade String Orchestra—J. P. Luck, LeMar Blevins, Willie McCerkle, Costa Carlson, and Richard Fenwick.

The Importance of Safety First Rules was further stressed in comments upon the program by Willard Anderson, President of Student Council, and Mr. Glen Durham, sponsor of the council.

Mary Dodds: I'm doing my best to get ahead.

Gordon Bayless: "Goodness, knows you need one!"

School Paper Is Revived at Hope

Seniors Would Like to See Paper From Year to Year

By Willard Anderson

The students of Mrs. Broach's Journalism class conceived a very good idea of beginning a High School paper.

This is no new thing, but has been done time and time again, but has never been continued for a period of years.

This time anew and very practical name has been selected and a paper started in full swing. Now we Seniors do not take the credit for that. We had three or four representatives in the class and know that they did their bit to make it a success but to the Juniors we will give the credit.

We hope that you will have foresight enough, and heed our encouragement and make this paper grow and demand recognition. A very good plan would be to install a club for the purpose of publishing the paper the first half. It could be composed of members of last year's Journalism class and you would receive service points for it. It would be one of the greatest services you could do your school. Then in the fall you could help the next Journalism class begin their paper and start it off in good shape. Then, only then, could you feel safe to let them handle it themselves. We would like to see this carried on like a tradition from year to year, such as Senior Day, Junior-Senior Banquet, Homecoming Day, etc.

We wish you the greatest success and enjoyment in working with the Hi-Lights.

OPTIMISM!

By Ruth Ann Cumbie.

"Whew! Watch it rain will you? This will be tough on our party tonight, but won't it be swell for the spring gardens?" Came from a certain high school student one day during a downpour of rain.

"To heck with the spring gardens," growled his companion, "I detest rain." And so it goes. When it rains, he complains; when the sun shines, he complains; when the wind blows—when it's dusty, always, he complains. Nothing pleases him and he gains nothing what-so-ever from life. On the other hand, his companion finds something good in everything. He doesn't think of himself only, but considers the other people around him. The slogan which he goes by, and the one which would do well for all of us is:

Which ever way the wind doth blow
Some heart is glad to have it so;
So blow it east, or blow it west,
The wind that blows is the wind
That's best.

We know of a senior who is too lazy to write home for money.
We wonder who?—666

Wonders Why Some Folk's Born Lucky

By Marjorie Byers

One day a certain young lady was sitting in Home Ec. class sewing away, but suddenly she dropped her work and listened. Wonder Why? Why do we always stop to listen when we are warned by the groaning and buzzing of the microphone. To hear an important announcement of course. And this is what she heard: "Will Miss Helen Hollamon please come to the office and receive her prize of two dollars and fifty cents which she is being awarded by the U. D. C. for making the highest grade in American History."

This young lady jumped up, dropped her sewing upon the table, and rushed over to gain her prize.

The rest of her classmates, with faces glowing with happiness for their chum, anxiously awaited her arrival.

When she came back, her face was radiant and in her fingers were two crisp dollar bills and a silver half-dollar.

Congratulations immediately fell upon her ears and who knows?

Perhaps sighs and utterings of: "Oh, how I wish I were smart."

Juniors Present 'Haunted House'

Play Was Directed by Miss Carlton, Given April 5

The Junior Class of 1935 presented "The Haunted House" under the direction of Miss Mirilam Carlton, Friday night April 5, at the city hall auditorium.

The weather conditions on that night were particularly adapted to that type of play although it almost caused a financial tragedy. The play was restaged April 9, and the weather conditions again were unfavorable. However the Juniors came out with enough money to give the Seniors a banquet and a dance in the high school gym.

The cast was as follows:

Morgan, the Tramp—Harry Segnar.

Emily Driscoll—Francis Snyder.

Jack Driscoll—Carl Jones.

Thomas, the Chauffeur—Fredrick Childers.

Helen Duncan—Sara Lou Ledbetter.

Desmond Duncan—James Butler.

Isabel Wesley—Mary Urban.

Eddie White—Thomas Crossnoc.

Dan Grogan—Zeylon Holly.

Mr. Edwards Evans — K. B. Spears.

Home Ec Girls Give Program

Pink rambling roses entwined among two fences and an arch formed the beautiful stage setting for the Senior Home Ec. girl's style show Friday, May 3. The show was in the form of a garden party with a reporter, Claudia Whitworth, giving the full details of the dress of each guest as she arrived. Hostesses for the informal party were: Alice Louise Wallace, Cathryn Middlebrooks, and Helen Hollamon.

All the girls looked as if they had just stepped off of Fifth Avenue; as the reporter remarked that the girls should be named "Miss Fashionables." All the dresses were of silk material in an array of colors and a variety of the latest patterns.

Of course, every garden party must have some form of entertainment, so it was at this one. Regina Basye with her violin, accompanied by Miss Harriet Story played softly during the time that the girls modeled. Gordon Bayless gave two piano selections and Francis Jean Williams gave a tap dance. The girls trio, composed of Wanda Keith, Pauline H. Jones and Regina Basye gave two beautiful selections.

The following girls modeled their dresses: Marjorie Byers, Pauline M. Jones, Lynette McKamey, Jane Orton, Jeanne Robertson, Helen Bernier, Floy Mae Wisener, Wanda Keith, Audia Porterfield, Geneva Higgason, Brooksey Nell Rogers, Mabel Barnum, Dorothy Porter, Ruth Ann Cumbie, Pauline H. Jones, Eva Nell Moxley, Ellen Byers, Alice Hayton, Isabel School-ey, and Elizabeth England.

Tribute Paid to LaGrone Williams

Who is it that is every place at the same time trying to please every body? A certain boy in the Senior class who drives a good old-strip down car that always gets you there just the same.

This boy is none other than LaGrone Williams. Willing, dependable, earnest, hard-working, and free-hearted are all the adjectives that describe this boy. He never refuses anybody anything.

LaGrone has been electrician and stage manager for all the Junior and Senior for the past two years. He has always been connected with the selling of ads for play programs and papers. This is one of the hardest jobs there is.

This article is small but it is just one way that the Senior class wishes to express their appreciation to one of their many valuable members.

Senior Play

Dramatic Club Is Organized

Ralph Owens Is Named President of Group

By Marjorie Byers

A Dramatic Club was organized this year by Miss Shipp, Senior sponsor, and Miss Cargile, Junior sponsor.

The following officers were elected:

President—Ralph Owens.
Secretary—James Butler.
Treasurer—Beatrice Gordon.
Other members of the club are: Geneva Higgason, Mabel Barnum, Maurice Thomas, William Robertson, Lynette McKamey, John Clyde Hill, Lenora Routon, Victor Keith, Catherine Lane, Vaughn Ray Woodard, Dorothy Porter, and Jane Orton.

The club has worked on plays and although they have not been able to put one on before the student body, they feel that they have brought about more interest in work of his sort.

John H. Putman — What is an atheist?

Thomas McKee—One who doesn't believe in Santa Claus.

Ralph—May I have the last dance with you?

Claudia—You've just had it.

Smile and they'll call you silly.

Good Season in Athletics Here

School Turned Out One of Strongest Football Teams

By Willard Anderson

Some of us are graduating from this Hope High School. Some of us have diplomas—some certificates. We are leaving ranked the same way in athletics, although as a whole we have left an athletic record of which we are all proud. Some of us trained hard, some "gold bricked," some of us proved a real value to the team, others of us only filled a position, nevertheless we enjoyed every minute of it. In football we can safely say that we helped build a splendid team that demands the respect of the strongest in our state.

In basketball we went to the state meet in our Junior year. In our Senior year we had even a better team but because of handicaps that we had nothing to do with and lack of sportsmanship of some of our opponents, we seemed to come out the underdog, but we know we're respected even in the hearts of those.

We hope that the students of the school continue to carry out our traditions even better than we did. We realize the possibilities of Hope High School. We have had our day and feel that we have done our part and that it has not been in vain.

We have no regrets.

Hope-Little Rock Battle

November 24—We remember a team from Little Rock invading Hope on this particular date, very confident of giving a little bunch of Bobcats a severe trouncing. All the flying colors and one hundred and five members in a splendid band marching down the field. We also remember Hope playing in Little Rock territory, below the 50 yard line the whole first half. Because of considerable more weight to drive with, late in the third quarter the Tigers were able to cross the 0 yard line once and a final place kick late in the fourth quarter gave a final score of 10 to 0.

Just Imagine

Jimmie Jones as a professor six feet tall and wearing glasses. Miss Ship weighing 200 pounds and red headed. Helen Hollamon as large as Eva Nell Moxley. J. W. Harper winning the girl he is after. John Henry Putman not saying "Let me tell you" to Miss Shipp. Dennis Richards not singing in a romantic tenor voice and not trying to be a Frank Parker. Ab Hervey not saying "Daddy done this."

J. W. Anderson not pestering Pauline and "Tass."

Pauline H. Jones not talking about Charley.

Paul Jones not in a Senior or Junior Play.

"Lefty" Dabbs and Lightning Griffith not talking about the latest song hits or some radio program.

"Runt" Hollamon not talking about a certain boy in Texarkana. Leonard England not going to locker 391.

Someone not calling J. W. Secret "Moo."

R. C. Kennedy getting his own English lesson.

Frank Robison and G. B. Martin not grinning in Mrs. Stephenson's Sociology Class.

Miss Cargile doing without a Coca Cola for one period.

J. W. Franks as a ticket seller and barker in a circus.

R. C. Kennedy not reading The Sports News.

Geneva Higgason being a quiet shy girl and not talking about Rufus.

Miss Shipp not going to Little Rock to see her parents—and that tall, dark, handsome hero of hers.

Charlene Hutson not wanting to pass "Jack's News Stand."

Beatrice Gordon not worrying about a certain boy in town.

Alice Louise Wallace sewing anything wrong in Home Ec.

Elizabeth England not cleaning up in the cottage.

Jane Orton not doing everything you ask her to do.

Claudia Whitworth not talking about going to Pine Bluff.

Tootsie Cargile not being bashful. Sybil Williams on time. Auda without Catherine. Wanda Keith with her hair messed up. Ruth Ann Cumbie angry. Alice Hayton acting sensible. Beatrice Gordon excited or in a hurry. Floy Mae Weisner a slender weeping willow. Lynette with Bill off the brain. Gordon Bayles shocked out of his "Unconcernedness" and thinking of anything but his music. Isabelle Schooley not thinking about Home Projects. Helen and Beatrice not together. Pauline M. Jones not thrilled over a note received every day about noon. Marjorie Byers not worrying about her appearance. Thomas McKee not being able to understand the English assignment. Helen Bernier not trying to keep up with Lester's every move.

What If ? ?

Claudia were Wentworth instead of Whitworth?

Ralph were out of debt instead of Owen?

Alice Louise were a flying ace instead of a Wallace?

Floy Mae were dumber instead of Wisener?

Cathryn were a side creek instead of a Middlebrook?

Elizabeth were Ireland instead of England?

Beatrice were Phoenix instead of Gordon?

Frank were a policeman's son instead of a Robison?

Pete were green instead of Brown?

Lynette were McNeill instead of McKemie?

Wanda was "peas" instead of "Beans."

Mr. Hammonds: Jimmy, why weren't you at the football game today between the coaches and the radio stars?

Jimmy Jones: I didn't know the coaches had a team. Who is on it besides yourself?

Hammonds: Well, there is Biff Jones, Howard Jones, Lou Little and all that bunch. I nearly forgot to tell you Kate Smith played for the radio stars.

Jimmy: Wait! Kate Smith can't play football, you gotta be fast on your feet.

Hammonds: Don't be silly—You should have seen Kate make a fifty yard run in her stocking.

CLASS of '35

Mary Jane graduating? Good lands, she had her hair in pig-tails only yesterday! And Johnny, the boy who never washed behind his ears . . . how proud and straight he looks in his cap and gown. There's "Tank" Johnson, the football center; they called him "Tubby" back in grammar school; how the team will miss him in the fall. Pretty little Polly Swain has her diploma now . . . next month she'll be married. There they go, one by one, graduates all . . . so proud, and happy and unafraid. Happy Landings, Class of '35!
